CHURCHILL TALKS AS BOMBS FALL

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Winston Churchill, speaking in the midst of a general London air raid alarm, declared to the House of Commons today the British-United States agreement to trade destroyers and defense bases had won "the general satisfaction" of the peoples of both nations.

The Prime Minister's war statement was delayed 45 minutes by the second German air raid of the day on the metropolitan area, and while the House waited, in adjournment, a defiant raider traced a cross of white smoke across the blue sky above the city.

But without waiting for the "all clear," Commons reassembled and Churchill began to speak.

"There is no doubt Hitler will not like this transference of destroyers; no doubt he will pay the U. S. A. out if ever he gets the chance."

He was referring to the 50 destroyers which the United States traded Britain for eight naval and air bases.

The transfer of destroyers did not constitute "the slightest violation of international law" or affect "in the smallest degree the non-belligerency of the United States," Churchill declared.

The all clear signal sounded while the prime minister was speaking. The alarm had been in force an hour and 26 minutes.

There will be no delay in bringing the destroyers into active service, and British crews are already meeting them at various ports where they are being delivered "by the long arm of coincidence." Churchill declared amid loud laughter.

NEW U. S. FRONTIER

"That is why I am very glad that the armed air and naval frontiers of the U. S. have been advanced along a wide arc into the Atlantic ocean and that this will enable them to take danger by the throat while it is still hundreds of miles away from their homeland," Churchill said.

The prime minister added, however, it was a mistake "to read into the official notes more than the document appeared on their face."

Turning to Balkan and European developments, Churchill said:

"No one can say how far Herr Hitler's empire will extend before this war is over. But I have no doubt it will pass away swiftly—perhaps more swiftly—than did Napoleon's army, although, of course, without any of its glitter or glory.

"We are going to be a good deal stronger next year than we are now, although we are quite strong enough for the immediate work in hand."

CITES HITLER'S NEED

He said Germany's need "to obtain a decision is very great" and warned the House that Germany should be able to "magnify and multiply" he attacks during thie month.

It had been known for three days that Churchill would give his report at this time.

U. S. Admiral Sails With 5 Destroyers On Secret Orders

Speeding north along a secret course today were seven fighting ships of the United States navy, five of them units in the first contingent of 50 destroyers detailed for transfer to Great Britain.

Within a few hours the remaining three of their squadron, drydocked, overhauled, stocked with ammunition and supplies at Boston navy yard, were expected to dash out of the harbor and join them.

Within 48 hours, according to navy men, it is likely that all eight ships will be flying the Union Jack at their mastheads.

ADMIRAL IN COMMAND

Rear Admiral F. L. Reichmuth, commander of the Atlantic destroyer fleet, was personally directing the transfer from his flagship, the Russell, which accompanied the 1200-ton Herndon and Welles today as they moved out to join the group which left here last night.

At sea when these three ships sailed were the 1100-ton Abel Upshur, the Aaron Ward and the Hale. They were followed by the destroyer tender Denebola, which is expected to return from Halifax the U. S. crews who maneuvered the traded destroyers north.

Left at the Navy Yard, but momentarily expecting to sail, were the Buchanan, Crowinshield and W. C. Wood, the first two 1100-tonners, the last of 1200 tons.

PLAN BRITISH ESCORT

How far Rear Admiral Reichmuth and his flagship would accompany the Canadian-bound destroyers was not known, but it was believed that somewhere off the Maine coast, close to Canadian waters, the miniature fleet would be met by British battleships.

These British craft would accompany the U. S. craft into whatever port is planned for the formal transfer of colors, Canadian and British crews would take over the eight cruisers and the Denebola take on the American seamen.

HEADING FOR NEW HOME—Two destroyers of the United States Navy (l. to r.), Abel Upshur and Hale, part of contingent of 50 sold to Britain in exchange for defense bases, head out of Boston harbor for Canada and ultimately for England. It was expected more would leave the Charlestown Navy Yard today after hurried preparation.

CAROL SHORN OF POWERS, APPROVES LUPESCU EXILE

BUCHAREST, Sept. 3 (AP)—Haggard from the struggle to preserve his dismembered, anarchy-riven healm, King Carol II of Rumania surrendered his vast powers of state today to a new strong man and was authoritatively reported to have consented to banishment of red-haired Magda Lupescu.

With the coming of dawn the 46-year-old monarch who had lived down the name "playboy prince" with a decade of strong-handed rule, reached a "royal understanding" with tough, strategy-minded Gen. Ion Antonescu, whose price for succor was a transfer of power.

With what Gen. Antonescu called "royal graciousness," Carol signed a public declaration which was a clear acknowledgement that the essence of rule had changed hands and Antonescu proclaimed a nationalistic program "to heal the wounds, collect our strength and assure our future."

Gen. Antonescu Mme. Lupescu

BANISHES THE WOMAN

On high authority, it was reported Carol had bowed to the demand of the iron-willed, army-supported new premier that his friend, Madame Lupescu (long credited with being a power behind the Rumanian throne), be banished from the troubled kingdom.

Carol found himself only the figurehead ruler of what had been left of Rumania after vast territorial cessions under pressure to Soviet Russia and more recently to Hungary, which had the backing of the Rome-Berlin Axis.

Where once he ruled in the manner of a medieval monarch, Carol today held merely such powers as the right to hand out medals, coin money, pardon crimina's and lay cornerstones.

HORTHY LEADS ARMY

The Carol-Antonescu bargain was reached about the time the vanguard of 80,000 Hungarian soldiers planted their banners in Transylvania, the province Rumania won in the World War settlement and about half of which Hungary regained at Vienna last week with the backing of Germany and Italy.

German Warship Crew Seizes 6 Americans on Ship at Sea

NEW YORK, Sep. 5 (AP)—Capture of six Americans on a steamship seized by German warships was reported today in a broadcast by Edwin Hartrich, CBS correspondent in Berlin, quoting a newspaper. Hartrich said a Berlin newspaper related the Americans were taken from the steamship Atlantic en route to South Africa.

They were first taken to a French port, he said, and then "given transportation" to Irun, Spain. No details were given as to whether they were ultimately released. CBS studio officials here gave the following names of the six, adding that there was no confirmation of the spelling and no eddresses: Mr. and Mrs. O. Yoder, F. A. Schmallenberger, Jesse M. Nicholson, Frank J. and Zola C. Kuntzer.

Marine authorities in New York believed the Americans had been aboard the Dutch freighter Kertosono, captured recently by a German raider in the South Atlantic while en route from New Orleans to Capetown.

They said the 9289-ton Kertosono was taken to Lorient, France, by a Nazi prize crew. The ship left New Orleans June 18 with a general cargo.

The German report said the ship was named the Atlantic. The Panamanian freighter Atlantic was in Baltimore today and the Norwegian tanker Atlantic was reported to be in Venezuelan waters.

Marine insurance officials said at least two German raiders have been operating in the south Atlantic for several weeks.

Seized Americans Mennonite Missionaries

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Lela Burns of Peoria reported today her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Yoder, and Miss Fannie Schmallenberger had been released in Lisbon, Portugal, after having been captured on a steamer seized by a German warship.

She said they had expected to sail from Lisbon for Angola, Africa, Aug. 30. The Yoders are Mennonite missionaries from Peoria. Miss Schmallenberger is a Mennonite missionary from Morton, Ill.

In a letter received by Mrs. Burns on August 12, her daughter related that the Dutch freighter on which they sailed from New Orleans June 18 for a mission field in Kalambea Mukenge, Africa, was stopped in mid-ocean by a German ship flying a Dutch flag.

A German prize crew boarded the freighter and sailed it to Lorient, France, arriving two weeks after the capture. The Americans, Mrs. Yoder wrote, were taken to Paris by the German police for a conference with the German army high command and the American consul. Three days later the Americans were escorted through German-occupied territory to Spain and then to Lisbon.

BELIEF HITLER HAS LOST HIS NERVE THRILLS BRITAIN

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 5—Cheered by what they consider Hitler's surprisingly revealed loss of nerve, the British people rose in spirit today to a point where it can be objectively reported that persons in authority and possessed of all necessary information are, perhaps for the first time, sincerely confident now not merely that Britain will be defended, but that Germany will be defeated.

The most brilliant September in the memory of London provides an Indian summer background for Royal Air Force vivtories at firse doubted by a skeptical world, but now confirmed by the most authoritative source conceivable—the Fuehrer himself.

LAUGH AT HITLER

It can now be admited that there have been times in the past when Hitler's speeches aroused if not fear then at any rate most sober consideration, and from the fall of Norway to the fall of France there was no inslination to smile at or deride his uterances.

This is the first time when without forcing it British authorities as well as the man in the street have been able to smile at and beride Hitler for what they consider his "undignified exhibition of frustrated hate" in the Berlin Sportpalast yesterday.

Now also for the first time neutral observers — some of whom could not be described as friendly to the British cause—are unanimous in the opinion that Germany no longer has a chance successfully to invade this country.

LIVED IN DREAD

Nobody who has not lived through the last three excruciating months in England can realize how colossal is the contrast between the situations in June and in September.

Immediately after the fall ot France everybody who knew the black facts felt these isles had only the feeblest chance to repel an attack and all really well-informed persons slept nightly under the heart-chilling apprehension that Hitler's dread parachutists and landing parties by sea and air might during that very night spread death and flame through England.

Only the man in the street did not know that the British expeditionary force lost in Flanders not only most of tis own equipment, but that, after Dunkirk, the British as a whole stood here virtually naked and, so to speak, armea with broomsticks against the world's most formidable force.

Hedy Lamarr Seeks To Divorce Markey

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5 (INS)—A divorce court finale was written today to the "dream romance" of beautiful Hedy Lemarr, film actress and Gene Markey, the producer.

HEDY LAMARR

Slightly less than two months after their separation, Miss Lamarr filed suit for divorce late yesterday, charging cruel and inhuman treatment which she said caused her "grievious mental and physical suffering."

No specific instances of cruelty were listed however.

Married in Ensenada, Mexico, on March 4, 1939, in the climax to a whirlwind romance, the action marks the second divorce experience for each.

Miss Lamarr's first husband was the wealthy Austrian munitions maker, Fritz Mandl, from whom she was divorced after creating an international sensation by her appearance in the movie "Ecstasy."

The collapse of this marriage, it was reported, was hastened by Mandl's objections to the film, in which she flitted au naturel through a few scenes.

Markey was divorced by screen actress Joan Bennett in June, 1937.

After being in Markey's company at various Hollywood night clubs and social events for several months, Miss Lamarr eloped with him to Mexico.

But the romance only survived one year and four months of married life and they finally parted last July 6, according to the complaint.

Miss Lamarr asked the court to approve an agreement dated Aug. 12 under which the couple was said to have settled all their property differences.

Draft Foes Gaining as Vote Nears

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—With the spectacle of a hard-hitting fist fight on the floor to testify to the shortness of some tempers, the House began its final drive today for a decision on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill.

Two days of general debate over, the chamber settled down to consider the measure section by section and to act on the scores of pending amendments. The vote on conscription was expected tomorrow night or Saturday.

Sponsors of the bill, rechecking their strength, made sharp downward revisions in earlier predictions that it would pass by 150 votes. Although still insisting it would not be defeated, they said they now expected the bill's margin would be from 50 to 75 votes.

The tense feelings engendered by the conscription debate burst out into the open last night when the epithet "traitor" was spoken and the House beheld Rep. Vincent, (D.) of Kentucky, and Rep. Sweeney, (D.) of Ohio, throwing punches at each other in the well of the Chamber while the galleries looked on.

The fight followed a speech by Sweeney, in which he assailed conscription and accused President Roosevelt of seeking to embroil the United States in war.

In the course of the speech, Sweeney, who is 55, mentioned that the slogan during Woodrow Wilson's 1916 campaign was: "He kept us out of war."

"And the people believed it," he said, "and they returned that individual to the White House.

"Then they were brought to their senses five months later when he put us into war."

BATTLE BEGINS

Sweeney returned to a seat besides Vincent, five years his junior, and abruptly the flare-up occurred. Each representative landed hard blows to the face and kept slugging until colleagues intervened. One grappled with the stocky Sweeney and rolled over a seat with him before he pinned him down.

Sweeney subsequently apologized to the House. Vincent at first repeated his charge of "traitor"—but later withdrew it at the persuasion of friends. Each gave the House his version of the altercation.

Sweeney's account:

"As I resumed my seat, the gentleman with whom I had difficulties called me a traitor. He repeated it again and you know what happened."

Vincent's account:

"I served in the World War. To say that my President of that time brought on that war to me

MRS. VINCENT ASTOR

CODY, Wyo., Sept. 5 (AP)—Helen Dinsmore Huntington Astor today held a speedy divorce from Vincent Astor, New York millionaire yachtsman, on grounds of mental cruelty. Judge Percy W. Metz signed the decree. A private property settlement was effected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—Vincent Astor, divorced at Cody, Wyo., by Mrs. Helen Dinsmore Astor, is, at 49, the head of the fabulously wealthy Astor family in the United States. Married 26 years ago last April 30, the Astors had no children.

A great-great-grandson of the original fur-trading John Jacob Astor, who came to the United States as an immigrant boy from Germany in 1784, Astor, christened William Vincent, inherited a fortune estimated at $75,000,000—built mainly on Manhattan real estate.

In past years he has sold real estate worth more than $16,000,000 and was one of the first to lead in a drive to eliminate Manhattan slums.

During many years of their married life, the Astors shared the spotlight of society. They were patrons of the opera and the Philharmonic orchestra and entertained frequently. The late Queen Marie of Rumania was a dinner guest of the Astors during her U. S. visit.

Fatal Yacht Blast Laid To Gas Leak

WOODS HOLE, Sept. 5—Gasolene that seeped into the bilge was blamed today for explosion aboard the cruiser Dolphin, which took the life of Miss Annie M. Vickerson, 60, and injured her employer, Mrs. J. Malcolm Forbes, Milton society woman.

Mrs. J. M. Forbes

The Forbes' 32-foot cabin cruiser had reached the dock here when the explosion tore the craft apart, burning to death Miss Vickerson and throwing Mrs. Forbes into the harbor.

Mrs. Forbes, 73, is the aunt of W. Cameron Forbes, former U. S. ambassador to Japan. Miss Vickerson was the sister of Sergt. Arthur Vickerson, radio technician at Boston police headquarters. They had just come from Mrs. Forbes summer estate on Naushon island and were on their way to Boston.

As the boat drew alongside the wharf there was a tremendous explosion which shattered the stern and threw wreckage 50 feet into the air. Both women were hurled several feet.

The women were in the stern, but Miss Vickerson was directly in the line of the blast.

Aflame from head to foot she screamed in agony while hundreds of vacationists, powerless to aid her, looked helplessly on.

The explosion likewise set afire the clothing of Mrs. Forbes. Capt. Alonzo G. Fisher seized her and lifting the aged woman over the side, dropped her into the waters of the harbor.

Then he tried to reach Miss Vickerson. But the heat of the flames was so intense that he was driven back after his face and hair were singed.

Two fishermen, Hans Harriman and Olaf Nelson, jumped into the water, swam alongside Mrs. Forbes and lifted her to the dock.

By the time the flames were extinguished Miss Vickerson was dead. Her charred body was found in the wreckage. She had been secretary and companion to Mrs. Forbes for the past 40 years.

Bride Deserted In 3 Months Seeks Divorce

SALEM, Sept. 5—When her father told her husband he'd have to support her, her husband packed up and left the house three months after their wedding, attractive young Mrs. Evelyn C. Wallace of Ipswich testified today in Essex probate court here.

She is seeking a divorce from Henry Wallace of Danvers on grounds of desertion and neglect to provide.

After an elopement to Salem, N. H., in 1937, she and her husband went to live with her parents, Mrs. Wallace told the court.

She said her husband never contributed to living expenses of the family.

After three months, she said, her father told her husband he'd have to pay his share or get out.

He chose to get out—and never returned—the wife testified.

He has never seen his 2½-year-old daughter, Claude Maude, she told the court.

She said he admitted having a girl friend in New York and showed pictures of her in a bathing suit.

ELAINE DENIES IT, BUT JOHN SAYS HE'S LEFT HER---AGAIN

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5 (INS)—John Barrymore, great profile of stage and screen, today had walked out on dark-eyed Elaine Barrie—again.

The aging great lover declared he had moved out of their ultra-modern home and had taken up solitary residence in his own Beverly Hills mansion.

"I left her because of defamation of character," he said. "I don't ever want to see her again."

He declined to explain the remark or the reason for the separation.

At Miss Barrie's home a secretary said regarding the rift:

"There's nothing to it. Why, he's asleep right now in the next room."

At the Beverly Hills palace a valet reported Barrymore also asleep there.

2 More Fugitive Convicts Slain, 11 Still Hunted

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 5 (AP)—Bullets today cancelled two more convicts' names from the "wanted" list of Arkansas' wholesale, Labor Day prison break.

State patrol headquarters here announced guards from the Cummins Prison Farm shot to death two of the fugitives in a gunfight in rural southeastern Arkansas, and reported recapture of another felon.

Patrol Radio Operator Luke Barber said those killed in a battle at a cabin between Winchester and Tillar were James Scott, 21, and Raymond Harrell, 23. He said the man recaptured was B. G. Holtzclaw, 47, a convicted slayer.

This left at large only 11 of the 36 men who broke from the Cummins farm Monday after killing a guard. Four have been shot to death, 21 recaptured.

The Columbia, La., section breathed easier after the release, unharmed, of three high school students kidnaped by six convicts, all of whom now are dead or retaken.

A report earlier today told of five or six convicts being surrounded near Wateon, and it was believed the two reported killed may have been part of this group. Still another was reported spotted near Natchez, Miss.

Frank Conley, 34, a ringleader, was killed by possemen near Columbia Tuesday, a few hours after Franuk Gartman, Columbia automobile dealer, was fatally wounded while hunting the desperadoes. Another convict was killed at the Vicksburg bridge yesterday.

They were two of six felons who kidnaped Voncille Williams, 16; Gladys Dramond, 15, Jerry Harribill, 17, high school students, Monday and held them captive in the swamps until 1000 possemen yesterday rescued them unharmed, capturing three convicts.

BOLD CAVEMAN LOSES GIRL TO GALLANT SOLDIER

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 5 (AP)—Earl Higdon of Chicago was the "caveman" but Sergt. William Koester, Jr., of the Ohia National Guard, got the girl.

Koester and Coralene Hickman, 22, were married last night, few hours after she announced she was going to marry Higdon because he stole her wedding gown—"and that assured me he really cared."

The Chicagoan brushed past Miss Hickman's landlady yesterday, sntached the gown and said she's wed Koester only "over my dead body."

Then Koester talked to Miss Hickman at length, reminding her they already had a marriage license. As a woman will, she changed her mind again.

Higdon, admitting defeat, returned the dress in time for the ceremony.

INDUSTRY GAINS IN HUB AREA

Six new manufacturing companies, furnishing jobs for ever 400 persons, have started operations in the Boston metropolitan area during recent weeks, according to a survey conducted by the Bureau of Commercial and Industrial Affairs of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, made public by Executive Sec. M. D. Liming today.

The total so far this year recorded is 59 new firms employing upwards of 2000.

Of the new companies, shoe manufacture led in importance, followed by clothing. Two of the new firms were in Boston, two in Lynn and one each in Reading and Framingham.

The survey also reports eight expansion programs of industrial and commercial firms involving the construction of over 100,000 feet of new industrial floor space and the use of about 40,000 feet of additional area.

Glenn Miller Radio Shows Open to Public

Good news for Glenn Miller orchestra fans in Boston was received today from the makers of Chesterfield cigarettes, sponsors of his weekly radio broadcasts, who announced three of Miller's shows to be aired over Station WEEI would be open to the public.

Free tickets for the three shows to be broadcast from the Hotel Bradford studio of WEEI can be obtained from Chesterfield, Park Square building office or from WEEI. The shows will be held Sept. 5, 10 and 11.

Frank McIntyre Rites Will Be Held Friday

Funeral services for Frank McIntyre, 35, for 15 years an employe in the mailing room of the Boston Record, will be held Friday at Sacred Heart Church, Roslindale. He resided in Charme ave., Roslindale.

McIntyre, taken ill suddenly Sunday, died at City Hospital. Two brothers, Melvin, employed at the Boston Globe, and Alfred, city fireman, survive.

Pal Tells of Futile Try to Balk Killing

How he tried to save his brother officer was told to a Superior Court jury in Dedham as trial resumed for Joseph L. Brooks, Sing Sing parolee, accused of the murder of Patrolman William F. Lee in Milton last May.

Patrolman Stephen J. Slack of the Milton department testified he twice shot Brooks after the ex-convict fired shots which fatally wounded Lee.

The witness testified he and Lee had stopped three men in a stolen car on Randolph ave., Milton, and after searching them had ordered the trio into the police car and had taken them to the police station. In addition to Brooks the men were George Zukauskis, 21, of Athens st, South Boston, who has turned State's evidence, and Armand Papineau, 23, of Dwight st., South End.

At the station, Slack testified, Officer Lee was getting out of the car when the shooting took place.

Previously Zukaskis had been called to the stand as a government witness, and testified he saw the shooting of Lee by Brooks. He said that earlier in the evening at Papineau's room, Brooks half pulled a gun from his clothing and said to the witness, "You're going to drive this car tonight and like it." He quoted Brooks as saying when they left the room, "I'm going to make a couple of hundred dollars tonight or I'll know the reason why, and I'm going to make it robbing gas stations."

The witness told of driving the car through the Blue Hills and of the machine being stopped by Lee and Slack. He said that on arrival at the station he started to get out in obedience to a command by Lee, but Brooks pulled him down to the seat, shouting at the policemen, "Drop that, you—." Zukaskis said Brooks then fired a shot, and after a brief interval a second one. Officer Slack thereupon opened fire, he testified.

Hub Navy Yard Speeds Destroyers on to War ammunition for the 50 destroyers, International News Service reported from Washington today.

AMMUNITION SUPPLIED

The British made certain of this before the deal was consummated, since these ships use four and three-inch shells and English ammunition is measured by the metric system, the dispatch said.

All destroyers involved in the transaction are leaving the U. S. thoroughly supplied with ammunition, as was disclosed exclusively by the Boston Evening American. The British made certain the supply would continue.

Great Britain, International News Service also said, has already bought or placed orders for $54,000,000 worth of war supplies in the first seven months of this year and some is ammunition of the type needed for the traded destroyers. —Editor's note.

All the destroyers involved in the historic deal by which President Roosevelt traded them for the privilege of leasing air and naval bases on British possessions in this hemisphere were capable of 35 knots.

SLOWED BY TENDER

That meant that if they sped along at tops, they could reach Halifax in less than 12 hours, but that was decidedly improbable.

The tender Denebola only does a maximum of 10.5 knots and it is believed she will stay with the group.

That led to estimates that the fleet would reach its destined port by Saturday.

How many more of the sleek greyhounds of the sea were due here for last-minute overhaul before moving north was still a Navy secret today, although squadrons were said to be on the way from both New York and Philadelphia.

A 72-hour deadline is the goal of navy authorities to complete the transfer through the port of Boston.

Italians in Air, Sea Battle

ROME, Sept. 5 (AP)—A series of furious naval and air engagements with British forces in which Italian Mas (motor torpedo boats) participated "successfully" was reported in Africa and the Mediterranean by the Italian high command today.

It told of British air and naval bombardments of Italian bases in the Dodecanese Islands, off the coast of Turkey, and Italian attacks on three British naval and merchant ship formations.

Six British naval ships, including two cruisers, were damaged by aerial bombs in two of these actions, the high command said, and 17 British planes destroyed in this and other combats.

In addition an Italian torpedo boat "successfully attacked" a British cruiser and two destroyers, the Italian communique said, and Italian planes "seriously hit" a British merchant ship.

The action ranged from off the coast of Algeria in the western Mediterranean, through the Aegean to the Red Sea.

MAN MOUNTAIN COMING

Frank Leavitt of Norcross, Ga., better known as Man Mountain Dean, the wrestler, will serve as assistant sergeant-at-arms at the national American Legion convention which opens Sept. 23 in Boston. He has served at two previous conventions.

STRIKE PARLEY OPENS

While police as a precautionary measure kept a watch on a dozen picketed plants in Boston's garment district, Gen. Charles S. Cole, head of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, today acted to end the strike of 1200 garment workers.

Summoned at the State House for a conference were representatives of the manufacturers and heads of the Waterproof Garment Workers Union, of the ILGWU, now affiliated with the A. F. of L.

The strike was voted at a mass meeting of the workers in Municipal Building, Brookline st.

The union demanded higher wages to meet increased cost of living, and better working conditions in the factories. The contract expired on Sept. 1.

Philip Kramer, vice-president of the ILGWU and manager of the Boston joint board; John J. Murphy, N. E. regional director of the A. F. of L., and Nicholas P. Morrissey, president of the State Federation, addressed the mass meeting of the strikers and promised them full backing of labor

SEAMEN TELL WAR DISASTER

BALTIMORE, Sept. 5 (AP)—Thirty-seven haggard and disheveled British seamen, eight of them injured, told a grim tale today of disaster and death in the war at sea.

Landed here unexpectedly last night by the Swedish freighter Eknaten, they were the sole survivors of crews of two British vessels, the 4000-ton freighter Blairmore and the royal navy sloop Penzance, both torpedoed and sunk Aug. 24 about 700 miles off the Irish coast.

More than 100 of their shipmates were lost.

Their stories, pieced together through a wall of censorship clamped down by British consular officials, indicated the eight injured men were the only survivors of the Penzance.

These, burned, cut and dazed, were among the Penzance sailors taken aboard the Blairmore when it sped to the flaming warship's aid only to be torpedoed in turn a few minutes later by the same U-boat. With 29 Blairmore survivors, they were rescued again by the Eknaten.

Despite their double torpedoing and painful injuries, the Penzance survivors put up a cheery front. One, his face a mass of powder burns, told a hospital attendant:

"We were torpedoed once, and they had just fished us out when another torpedo got the rescue ship and down we went again."

The 37 survivors were 17 hours at sea in two of the Blairmore's lifeboats before the Eknaten sighted them.

Capt. Eric [illegible] of the Eknaten bade a personal farewell to each seaman, and officer, including Capt. Hugh Campbell of the Blairmore who still was wearing a mussed, torn uniform coat.

"When you got out of those boats, I felt as happy as you did," the big jovial Swede told the survivors. "I'd be only too happy to meet you again, but let's hope things will be different next time."

Dutch Fire Engines Taken Over by Nazis

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Schiphol airdrome, Amsterdam's airport, has been bombed "out of existence," Dutch circles said today they were told by a neutral traveler just arrived from The Netherlands and Germany's Ruhr.

This traveler claimed most of Holland's fire engines had been requisitioned by the Germans for service in the Ruhr to fight fires caused by Royal Air Force raids.

SHARK CAPTURED

Captured near Minot's Light after an hour's struggle, a nine-foot, 100 pound, white shark was on exhibition today at the Cohasset Yacht Club. It was harpooned by Capt. George Jenkins and Bob Archelas, sailor, of the yacht Juldi Walla.

U. S. War Observers Talk With King

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP) — The United States' three special military observers who recently reached England, Rear Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, Maj.-Gen. D. C. Emmons and Brig.-Gen. George V. Strong, were received at Buckingham Palace by King George VI today.

They had a long talk with the King, and it was understood the general war situation was discussed. Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy introduced them.

Hitler to 'Pay' U. S. Up, Britain Warns

mons led neutral observers to believe Hitler might have deliberately sent his planes over to harrass Parliament. Yesterday, when Hitler spoke, his speech was not announced until shortly before he began. Dispatches from Berlin beforehand even went so far as to give the time as an hour later than he actually talked, presumably so he would not be interrupted by British raiders over the Reich.—Editor's note.

Commons carried on for a while after the alarm first was sounded when the speaker said he understood arrangements had been made to inform the members if a raid was "more imminent."

CHURCHILL CHEERED

Then the session was suspended. When the sirens were heard in the House the public gallery was cleared.

It was the question hour. Ten minutes later the speaker announced the raid was "imminent" and adjourned the House.

Churchill, who entered soon after the warning sounded, was cheered as he took his seat on the front bench.

Waves of enemy aircraft had crossed the southeast coast at a great height and some of them were approaching London when the alarms were sounded.

Anti-aircraft batteries and British fighters went into action immediately.

Berlin reported that German air raiders who returned after forenoon raids on southeastern England said they shot down 20 British planes. Five German planes are missing, informed sources said.—Editor's note.

The raid was one of a series over England at widely-spaced objectives, some planes of one group penetrating the outskirts of London and dropping bombs, and others doing considerable damage in the northwest.

HOSPITAL BOMBED

The Air Ministry said preliminary reports indicated no great harm was done in London in the first raid, but gas and water mains were broken, a hospital was hit, and another narrowly missed during the attack in the northwest.

Several casualties resulted from bomb hits on the hospital.

One Messerschmitt fighter crashed in a thickly populated southeastern area during violent air fights over the Thames estuary that resulted when British fighters went up to repulse a many-pronged thrust at London. Another German fighter also was shot down.

No one was hurt from the crash, but one woman was wounded by a stray machine-gun bullet as dogfights swirled over the fields. Farm workers were forced to take shelter as metal rained from the skies.

Both incendiary and explosive bombs fell in the London area, but most of the raiders were dispersed before they could unload, and British fighters chased them back across the channel.

However, the air ministry announced enemy planes had penetrated to the outskirts of London this morning and dropped some bombs.

Judging from preliminary reports, the ministry said, no serious damage was done.

ATTACK ON BALLOONS

Some of the Nazi fighters attacked the protective balloon barrage as they fled. One balloon was shot down.

German day raiders also were over the industrial midlands and the southwest, where four persons in a municipal hospital were injured in a night attack.

Night raiders appeared in many areas of England, including London, where one of the greatest anti-aircraft barrages of the war met a few planes which succeeded in passing the outer defenses to drop bombs.

Little damage was reported, however, except in two towns in the northwest and one in the southwest. The government said there were "some" fatalities.

A southwest coast area underwent its most intensive attack of the war with eight hours of continuous bombing and anti-aircraft fire before daybreak.

In general, however, Adolf Hitler's new threat of retaliation for night RAF attacks on Germany failed to bring any marked increase in raiding.

London itself considered it an "easy" night with an air alarm of an hour and a half, on the heels of two daylight raids yesterday.

MANY FIRES STARTED

Most of the casualties and damage in night raids occurred in two northwest towns and a southwest town, a government communique said, adding that "in the London area the damage was small and the casualties very silght."

Houses were damaged in many areas, and "a large number of fires were started by incendiary bombs.

3900 Nazis Reported Dead In Sub Attack

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 5 (AP)—The newspaper Dagens Nybeter reported today about 3900 German troops had been drowned Monday night in the torpedoing and sinking of a German transport by a British submarine in the Kattegat, entrance to the Baltic Sea.

The report came from the newspaper's correspondent at Lysekil, near Goteborg, who said Swedish and Danish fishermen were witnesses. The ship was said to have had 4000 troops aboard, with not more than 100 being saved by a convoy of two armed trawlers and a destroyer.

The vessel was identified as the Marion, of Hamburg, and was reported en route to Norway from Germany. She was said to have gone to the bottom after being struck by one torpedo amidships.

6 BRITISH WARSHIPS SUNK?

BULLETIN

COLON, Panama, Sept. 5 (AP)—Passengers of the 15,507-ton British liner Orduna, reported today that five freighters in the same convoy with her from England were torpedoed and sunk five day out of Liverpool.

The Orduna carried 690 passengers, including 200 British children.

BERLIN, Sept. 5 (AP)—Six British destroyers have been sunk recently by U-boat and torpedo boat flotillas, the high command said today, as Adolf Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter, bellwether of the German press, declared Britain's acquisition of 50 United States destroyers might be used "only to cover the eventful glorious retreat' to America.

The high rate of destruction of Britain's smaller warships was emphasized by the high command as German planes striwing back at the British whose bombs killed a score of persons in raids last night on Berlin and other parts of Germany. were reported centering day attacks on airports in the suburbs of London.

A special communique said a destroyer of the Imogen class (1370 tons) was sunk by a torpedo boat flotilla in an attack yesterday on a British convon from which 39,000 tons of shipping were shot.

The regular communique said thre more destroyers, the Esk and Express of the 1375-tone Eclips class, and the Ivanhoe of the 1370 tons in the Intrepid class had been newly sunk by German submarines which also took a toll of 27,000 tons of merchant shipping from one "strongly pratected" convoy. These were "besides two destroyers which were reported sunk by German submarines Sept. 2."

was an untruth. The whole statement that the gentleman made here I resented very much.

"When he came down to sit with me, I got up and moved, and I shall continue to move as long as I am a member of the Congress of the United States and he is a member of Congress.

"I said I did not want to set by a traitor to my country. Then he attacked me and you know what happened."

CHEERS AND HISSES

When Vincent concluded there were some cheers, but more boos and hisses and loud shouts of "Throw him out." Vincent retracted the "traitor" charge a few minutes later and it was stricken from the record, despite objections.

The House debate last night lasted almost until midnight, with conscription alternately praised and denounced.

U. S. Speeds Pacific Plans in Jap Crisis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (INS)—Increasing tension in the Far East today prompted the United States to move swiftly in strengthening the nation's military and naval defenses in the Pacific.

On the heels of the historic Anglo-American exchange of 50 destroyers for naval base sites along the Atlantic seaboard, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox revealed the United States is seeking to establish submarine, warship and air bases on Galapagos and Cocos islands. Knox is on an inspection tour of Pacific naval facilities.

Cocos island, owned by Costa Rica, and the Galapagos, an Ecuadorean possession, are close to the Pacific approaches to the Panama canal. President Roosevelt visited Cocos island on one of his cruises

The State Department, while refusing to confirm Knox's disclosure, officially expressed its concern over reports of a threatened Japanese move on French Indo-China.

Secretary of State Hull, in a formal statement, indirectly warned that the use of French Indo-China by the Japanese for military operations against China would have an "unfortunate effect upon public opinion in the United States."

Hull recalled previous American warnings to Japan not to move against the Dutch East Indies, French Indo-China and other Pacific possessions.

Out of the all-night conference in Carol's heavily guarded palace—where shots were fired Tuesday night in a futile attempt at assassination—Antonescu emerged today, victor in a virtual coup d'etat accomplished by words alone.

Close associates said the new dictator had fashioned his own pattern for rule, avoiding the foolish trappings of [illegible] imitations.

One of the general's first acts after taking oath as premier at dawn was to order arrest of Gen. Bangha who as chief of gendarmes supervised the mass execution of the Iron Guard assassins of former Premier Armand Calinescu. Bangha was Calinesco's brother-in-law.

HALTS IRON GUARD CURB

At the same time Antonescu issued a proclamation which made clear "persecution of the Carol-outlawed Iron Guard, a Fascist organization would cease at once."

Frosted Cake For Picnic

By MARTHA LEE

A picnic without cake is almost like Hamlet without the hero. But cakes are temperamental additions to the picnic hamper, and often arrive at their destination a bit the worse for the journey. The trouble, of course, is with the frosting

When you pack your autumn picnic hamper, take the cake along unfrosted, and carry the frosting in a covered jar or bowl to spread after you reach your destination.

There's a delicious frosting made with sweetened condensed milk that stays soft and "spreadable," and works like magic in turning a Plain Jane cake into a really glamorous dessert.

The recipe is failure-proof, and the task of making it can be safely entrusted to impatient younger members of the party while mother is packing the sandwiches. It always comes out smooth and creamy, even at the hands of young cooks.

If you haven't time to make the cake, you can buy a plain loaf or layers on your way to the picnic. It will taste like a home-made masterpiece when you get it frosted.

MAGIC PICNIC FROSTING

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 1-13 cups (15 oz.) can sweetened condensed milk
1 tbsp. water

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes until thick. Remove from heat. Add water. Cool. Spread on cold cake. Covers tops of two 9-inch layers.

CREAMY CHOCOLATE FROSTING

1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
¼ cup sweetened condensed milk
1½ cups sifted confectioners' (4X) sugar
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
⅛ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vanilla

Mash cream cheese. Add sweetened condensed milk and beat until smooth. Add confectioners' sugar gradually. Add melted chocolate, salt and vanilla, and beat until thoroughly blended. This frosting covers tops of two 9-inch layers or top and sides of loaf cake or about 18 cup cakes. A very smooth creamy frosting that keeps well.

BUTTER FROSTING

2 tbsp. butter
¼ cup sweetened condensed milk
1½ cups confectioners' (4X) sugar
½ tsp vanilla

Cream butter and milk thoroughly. Add gradually the sifted confectioners' sugar and beat until the frosting is smooth, creamy and light in color. Other flavors than vanilla may be used. This frosting may be tinted any color by the addition of a speck of food coloring. Pale tints are most attractive. Spread on cold cake. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two 9-inch layers, or top and sides of loaf cake, or about 18 cup cakes.

TURN A PLAIN Jane cake into a glamorous dessert with creamy chocolate frosting, made with sweetened condensed milk, and spread after the picnic haunt has been reached.

LEMON COCONUT FROSTING

2 cups confectioners' (4X) sugar
½ cup sweetened condensed milk
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 cup shredded coconut
Yellow vegetable coloring, if desired.

Stir confectioners' sugar into milk. Add lemon juice and grated rind. Beat until smooth and creamy. Tint pale yellow with vegetable coloring, if desired. Spread on cold cake. Sprinkle coconut over top. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two 9-inch layers or top and sides of loaf cake, or about 18 cup cakes.

COCOA-MOCHA FROSTING

⅓ cup sweetened condensed milk
1½ tbsp. strong, black coffee
1 tsp. vanilla
2¼ cups confectioners' (4X) sugar
2 tsp. cocoa

Blend milk, strong black coffee, and vanilla. Add confectioners' sugar and cocoa, which have been sifted together. Blend thoroughly. Spread on cold cake. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two 9-inch layers, or top and sides of loaf cake, or about 18 cup cakes.

You Can Be Beautiful

Cream Concentrate Gives Skin Glow and Softness

By ARLINE GOULD

DON'T FORGET that at this season of the year there can't be too much of a good thing when it comes to nourishing and pampering your skin back to its springtime glow and softness . . . and for that you need a cream unsurpassed in its emollient content.

There is one so chock-full of bland oils for thirsty skins that it's called a "cream concentrate." And for a very short time, so short in fact that we can't invite you to write in about it but to phone for your information, it's to be given away with a two dollar purchase in its line. The original price of this jar is well over a dollar, so you can see what a fall bargain it is.

We don't belong to the "spare the cream" school of thought when it comes to anything like this. Our policy is to simply heap it on, though sometime before the actual lay-me-down-to-sleep moment arrives, then wiping it off almost wholly so the pillow won't be given a beauty treatment it doesn't need.

If you feel your complexion has really gone to seed, you'll use a generous layer of this cream preceding your shower, fifteen minutes before you make up, or in the morning before your cleansing and make-up for the day.

You'll find that this extra bit of attention keeps the skin wonderfully pliant, because cream concentrate takes the least opportunity it gets to ply your dry skin with its miracle-working concentrated oils.

If you'd like to learn about this short-time special, a "cream concentrate" being given with a $2 purchase, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday; we can't ask you to write for information on this special, because it is not available after Saturday.

Manners

Plans Simple Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am a young girl, planning to be married in November. My father died a few months ago, and my mother is an invalid. So, under these circumstances, I must have a wedding as small and as informal as possible.

1—I though a suit would be correct for me to wear to the ceremony, which will be in a Roman Catholic Church at 9 a. m. However, some of my friends have told me that this would not be correct.

2—Another problem is about the invitations. Do you think that a note to our friends telling them the place and hour of the wedding would be correct? N. R.

1—For your informal early-morning wedding it would be in excellent taste for you to wear a suit.

2—Some of your guests (your relatives, for example) might properly be invited by word of mouth, and when this is not convenient, you might write notes of invitation.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

SHE WAS TEN and, for the moment, anything but a treat to her peeved parent. So he gave her five pounds (about $25) and told her to be off.

Whereupon she tied her nightgown in an untidy bundle to the back of her bicycle and proceeded to spend a delightful week wandering hither and yon through the English countryside.

Four years later this same father gave her 100 pounds and return ticket, and chased her off to a summer's ecstatic, unchaperoned trip through Norway, letting her go where and when she pleased, sharing gay hours with chance-come companions whom she "kept in their place" as firmly as though she had been a "grand dame" instead of an unguarded motherless babe in a ragged dress, with no standards save those she hewed out of her own necessities.

Seems incredible by our modern American standards, doesn't it? Yet to I. A. R. Wylie, famous British authoress, there was nothing remarkable about it. She discusses it all quite casually in her remarkable magazine article—"I Hated My Father." For which she had ample reason. But she bears no resentment for the surprising liberty he allowed her as a snub-nosed infant.

To the contrary, she believed it to have been a normal and valuable training. And frankly thinks that other youngsters should be allowed and expected to be as independent.

STARTLING VIEWPOINT? Perhaps. And yet I'm thinking back to days when I followed spurred heels down ill-laid planks . . . in childish adoration of the argonauts who conquered the West.

Studying their faded daguerreotypes, one might suspect their bearded faces and hair-trigger eyes had been tempered by a world of experience But usually those impressive whiskers masked the lusty curiosity and courage of 19-year-old youngsters.

To every weather-beaten old veteran and mellowed grandmother of that Covered Wagon trail, there were 10 16-year-old brides with babes at their breasts . . . slender young saplings of boys and girls, starry-eyed . . . fiery-hearted. How else could they have endured the horror of that trek through hell?

Fremont himself, Pathfinder extraordinary, was only a yearling when he headed for the sunset—a young maverick with a 14-year-old bride.

Youth won the West. Youth dumped the tea into Boston harbor . . . shivered and laughed through Valley Forge. Hot-blooded, dreaming Youth burned, bled and battled behind every great landmark of history. Why can we not wear their discarded armor today . . . or fit our full grown women figures into their slender calicos?

Because the heroic spirits whho once wore those clothes were only children!

AND NOW Young America refers to itself as "Us Kids" at 30 and 35! Postpones marriage at 29 because they're "not ready to settle down." Goes childless for fear they'll lose their adolescent shapes!

But it's not their fault—it's yours and mine.

Youth would take the trail—if we'd let it . . . and tackle whatever trouble lay along that trail. Youth is as avid for life as it was in red-headed Elizabeth's time.

BUT WE HAMSTRING IT WITH OUR FEARS . . . WE STUNT IT WITH OUR CODDLING . . . AND STRANGLE IT WITH OUR POSSESSIVENESS.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

FROM THE RIDICULOUS to the sublime . . . from the violent, ludicrous jitterbug antics of two seasons ago the vogue in dancing is turning back to the graceful, enjoyable steps of Grandmother's day . . .

Last evening the debs went back to dancing school at the second Polka Party held at the Sheraton Roof for the benefit of the Bunker Hill Girls' Club, and had a merry time learning the figures and turns of the schottische, Liberty waltz and Portland Fancy as well as the polka . . .

Emily Garritt, chairman of the debutante committee for the parties, enjoyed the gay informality of the Liberty waltz in which everyone joined hands in a big circle, waltzed around a few measures in a grand right and left and then mixed up partners by dancing with the nearest person . . . She wore a bouffant white pique gown with a border of eyelet embroidery at the neck and sleeves . . .

Mrs. Bartlett Harwood, first vice chairman of the girls' club board, came up from Manchester with Mr. Harwood and presided over a large table of friends . . . Her beautiful chiffon gown, fashioned in panels of pale green and fuchsia, was enhanced by diamond clips and braclets . . .

Others in the merry throng were debutante Beverly Moore in a striking gray dress with a cherry red sash and a long hooded coat of cherry red silk . . . Nancy Bernard in pale blue faille, Marjorie Ober in a picturesque blue and white flowered organdie and May Bottomley whose marquisette gown had a full skirt of pale blue with a bodice of pink and blue stripes . . .

Barbara Ann Newbert, just back from spending the summer at Rockland, Maine, set off her deep tan with a flowered print gown and enjoyed the fun with her sister debs at a long table presided over by Emily Garritt . . . Among their escorts were James Faunce, an enthusiastic amateur oarsman, who enjoyed watching the lights twinkling in the Charles river below and pointing out to the girls the course over which he rows almost daily . . .

The party was more or less a farewell for Stewart Woodworth, Jr., who is leaving soon for Texas with the First Corps Cadets . . . Angier Ames Newcomb, Joe Bodell, Jr., and Fred Newcomb were also among the debs' partners . . .

Socialites Attend Wynn Premiere

IT WAS WELL AFTER MIDNIGHT when the final curtain came down on Ed Wynn's inimitable clowning in "Boys and Girls Together" at the Shubert . . . and if the excited comments of the throng of theater goers is any criterion, the fire chief sure has a big hit on his hands . . .

Boys and girls in the packed audience included such inveterate first nighters as Mrs. Q. A. Shaw McKean, Mrs. Charles Codman, Nancy and Lucy Cochrane and Patricia Phelan . . . Mrs. McKean's novel gown of Quaker gray crepe was made like a coat dress with a wide collar of white pique and long bell sleeves . . . Lucy Cochrane set off her platinum tresses with a dusty pink chiffon gown trimmed with bows of magenta velvet, and Nancy wore a black and white flowered skirt with a bishop sleeved sheer white blouse . . .

Leila Ernst, the local gal who made good not only on Broadway but in the movies, came on to the show with Stacy Hulse, after dining at the Ritz Roof . . . The Bill Kevilles and Mrs. Edward Donnelly also came on from the Ritz with a party of friends and still others at the theater were Mrs. Francis Hart, Mrs. Eliot Hubbard in an amethyst pleated chiffon gown with a magenta wool jacket, Phyllis Childs in a striking navy and red outfit, and Mary O'Day with Charles Mulcahey.

LOOKING FAR from athletic in this picturesque evening gown, Edith Seyburn is really one of the best tennis players among North Shore juniors. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesson Seyburn of Grosse Pointe and Manchester-by-the-Sea, and a contestant in the junior tennis tournament at Essex County Club this week.

Love And Marriage

Jealous Wife

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

What can I do with my husband? He is an exceptionally good man in almost all ways, except that he won't let me spend money for clothes which I really need. It isn't as if we haven't the money, because we do, but he wants to have a bank account, and that's in his name too.

We've been married three years and have a daughter of two whom he worships. But in all this time he has said only twice that he loves me. I know he isn't the affectionate kind, but I wonder if he really loves me. I have to stand by and watch him love the baby. I'm bitter with jealousy.

Do other men act like that? I mean, is it natural for him to be so cruel? He hasn't kissed me for a week. Do you think it could be because he is eight years older than I am? Please help me ease my mind.

BUTCH

I've had letters from women who were jealous of the "other woman," jealous of their husband's love of sports, jealous of his love of reading, jealous of his family, particularly his mother, but this is the first time I have ever had a letter from a woman jealous of her own baby.

Some men, and I hate to say it, refrain from demonstrations of affection to their wives when they see how it affects them. Try a little simulated indifference to this husband of yours. Make him want to know what has come over you and he will probably be as eager to kiss you as you are to be kissed. Sorry, but human nature is like that.

All Mexico Guarded In Threat of Revolt

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 5 (AP)—The administration of President Cardenas took extraordinary precautions today to forestall a possible armed attempt to seize power which a leader of General Juan Adreau Almazan's party declared might begin "within the next 10 hours or two days."

Troops patrolled highways, watched airports and kept all trains under surveillance to check movements of Almazan's followers, while responsible sources reported reinforcements were being moved to northern Mexico, regarded as an Almazan stronghold.

Graciano Sanchez, head of the national confederation of 3,000,000 peasants, announced 80,000 trained members were ready to take up their rifles in support of the administration, which backed Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho against Almazan in the disputed and bloody July presidential election.

Angel Trechuelo, executive of Almazan's party made the prediction of an early outbreak of revolt just before he left Mexico City for an undisclosed destination in northern Mexico shortly after midnight.

Fewer Pupils In City Schools

While two more schools opened doors today, school officials predicted decreases in enrollment generally in Greater Boston.

Substantial increases, however, were expected in several suburban towns where building booms have developed with the trek of families from city apartments to backyard gardens.

In Winthrop, 3044 pupils were enrolled, a decrease of 64. Quincy, on the other hand, estimated an enrollment of 13,500 pupils, an increase of 300 over last year.

Young Somerville and Wellesley went back to school today, while Arlington, Brookline, Cambridge, Concord, Everett, Hingham, Lincoln, Malden, Newton, Revere, Wakefield, Watertown and Woburn children prepared for school opening Monday.

School bells will sound in Boston a week from today.

WILLKIE IN PLEA FOR SPEED

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 5 (AP)—Exactly two months before the presidential election, Wendell L. Willkie called on Republican leaders from 22 states today to "get an aggressive, organized campaign under full steam." He invited nearly 100 national committeemen, committeewomen and state chairmen to discuss organization problems with him over heaping plates of fried chicken, cream gravy and mashed potatoes—his favorite menu.

The meeting was described in advance by the Republican presidential nominee as the largest of its kind planned for this year. It was designed primarily to cover states outside the solid South which he will not visit in his forthcoming Western tour.

"This campaign is not an ordinary one," said Willkie in a brief talk prepared for the luncheon. "It is a crusade for national unity, rehabilitation of the domestic economy and building of national defense."

He explained to reporters, however, that the gathering was not intended basically to consider party policy but to "get the party organization into high gear."

National Chairman Joseph W. Martin sent word at the last minute that Congressional duties would keep him in Washington, but John Hamilton, the national committee's executive director, was among those coming here for the meeting.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, an unsuccessful contender for the Presidential nomination, also accepted an invitation.

Willkie asked as many of the group as possible to talk with him individually, but to all he extended this message:

"Go back to your states and have meetings with your county leaders. Then get them to have similar meetings with precinct workers.

"I have received fine reports from various parts of the country of tremendous enthusiasm and interest. But that is not enough. There must be organization in nation, state, county and precinct."

United Party Is Dever Aim

There'll be no mud slinging on his part.

So it was declared by Atty. Gen. Paul A. Dever as he pressed his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the Sept. 17 primary.

While he criticized Gov. Saltonstall's labor record, Dever stated his intention to refrain from any statement that might give the Republicans an opportunity to besmirch Democratic chances in the general elections.

"The morning after the primaries must find our party a united one," he stated in a radio address.

The Governor's labor record has been one of "hostility," Dever declared.

At Lowell, meanwhile, former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly, who also seeks the Democratic nomination for Governor, pointed to his record as a member of the finance commission in Fall River.

"I helped to obtain for Fall River the lowest tax rate in 10 years, and at the same time restored 10 per cent wage cuts to all city and county employes, lowered electric light rates, and put Fall River on a sound financial basis," he stated.

PRESIDENTIAL BATTLE PAGE

The Record of Harold Ickes

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

Whenever a thorough-going Roosevelt hater runs out of breath, and out of adjectives, denouncing the high crimes and tyrannies of the Chief Executive, he pauses a moment for second wind, turns a deeper shade of purple, and then bellows—"and look at that fellow Ickes."

Secretary Ickes

The Secretary of the Interior is easily runner-up to the President in boiling up the blood-pressure of the self-appointed patriots who regard every move to help the mass of people as the invention of Moscow or the Fifth Column. Perhaps his nearest rival is Harry Hopkins, but Harry is too good-natured to provide much of a target for genuine and sustained ill-will.

Ickes, on the other hand, revels in a rough-and-tumble. His enemies even charge that when things are quiet, he sniffs the atmosphere for a hint of trouble. He pitches into an opponent with a hearty zest and the heavier the odds against him, the better he likes the fray.

The quality about Ickes which brings down the wrath of the Roosevelt haters is his ability to pierce the tender and sensitive hide of the Republican elephant. The eminent statesmen who think the President is fair game for any kind of charge short of high treason, howl with rage when Ickes hands it back to them in their own language. A few of them may believe, as a newspaper columnist suggested, that the Secretary has a "secret adjective," like Hitler's secret weapon, which will positively destroy the Willkie candidacy.

The curious thing about the barrage hurled against Ickes is that no one has been able to pick a flaw in his official record. For more than seven years he has handled two outstanding and difficult posts in the Roosevelt Administration—Secretary of the Interior and Administrator of Public Works.

CONTRAST IN RECORDS

The Secretary of the Interior is charged under the Constitution with the task of safeguarding the natural resources of the United States. He is custodian of the vast public lands with their wealth of deposits in oil, coal and other minerals. There are huge tracts of public forests to be protected against the raids of greedy timber-hunters. The mismanagement of these great reserves in the past has been the source of many serious public scandals.

As Administrator of Public Works, Ickes has handled billions of dollars appropriated by Congress to take up the slack in building caused by the depression. The surface of the country is dotted with bridges, dams, school houses and other public improvements constructed under his supervision and direction. This great enterprise had to be handled by an organization built up from scratch and thrown together with the maximum of speed and efficiency. The job has been done by Ickes well and ably.

The Republicans, remembering the career of the unfortunate Albert B. Fall, seldom speak about the Interior Department above a whisper. They remember the shameful disposal of the Teapot Dome and the Elk Hills Naval Reserves, the little black bag which carried the bribes, and the whole unsavory mess which covers one of the blackest pages in American history. In one of his recent speeches, President Roosevelt aptly pointed out that every national scandal of major proportions since the Civil War has taken place under a Republican Administration.

The usual charge leveled against Ickes is that he is a "traitor to his class," that he "lives in a big house" and yet aligns himself with the Roosevelt forces as a champion of the underdog. The Interior Secretary, in his public addresses, has explained in convincing fashion why he believes that a government which fails to watch out for the interests of the underprivileged is gambling with its own existence.

WILLKIE'S PHILOSOPHY

Candidate Willkie explained his philosophy in a speech delivered in St. Louis shortly before his nomination for the Presidency. He said:

"The curse of democracy today in the United States as well as in Europe is that everyone has been trying to please the public. Almost nobody ever gets up and says what he thinks. He is afraid that he will thereby lose the approval of labor, or the approval of the unemployed or the approval of some other powerful faction. And this has altogether perverted the processes of democracy and sapped its strength."

There is no denying that Ickes and Willkie look at the problems of government through opposite ends of the telescope. They read differing interpretations from the lessons of history and the public is well able to determine which interpretation is better suited to the problems of Twentieth Century democracy.

But no matter what the public decides, no one is able to question the fact that Secretary Ickes has made an enviable record as a faithful and efficient public servant.

HUGO BLACK AND THE BOYS OF DUNKIRK

By CARLISLE BARGERSON

(Assigned by Republican National Committee)

> "To indulge in such a fantastic idea of my own importance would be to betray the common hope and the common cause that has brought us all together this year. A great man left a watchword that we can well repeat: 'There is no Indispensable Man.'"
> —Franklin D. Roosevelt speech in New York city, Nov. 3, 1932.

You sometimes wonder if those boys are trying to make themselves invisible under the Nazi bombing at Dunkirk, or even those of America now leaving for the training camps, ever think of Hugo I. Black. Because he has had a lot to do with their destiny

Justice Hugo L. Black

It was Hugo, in fact, who brought Mr Roosevelt to being the "indispensable world leader" which he now insists he is.

Hugo came to the United States Senate from Alabama figuratively wearing the white robe of the Ku Klux Klan. In the summer of 1937 Mr. Roosevelt invested him with the black robe of the Supreme Court. Hugo scooted off to England for a vacation before taking office.

While he was over there, Mr. Roy Sprigle, a reporter on the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, dug up the indisputable black and white evidence that Hugo was a member of the Klan. What is known in Washington as "political hell" broke loose.

Mr. Roosevelt adopted the ostrich-like policy he is now trying to adopt about the present campaign. In London, Hugo ran off and hid. But of course, the matter would not down. And Hugo had to come home some time.

It was announced he would make a nationwide broadcast upon his return, explaining all. Mr. Roosevelt found it necessary to make a trip to the Pacific Coast so he wouldn't be in Washington at the time. Furthermore he managed to be out in Puget Sound at the exact time of the address so he wouldn't have to comment on it. HUGO TOOK THE RADIO AND CONFESSED ALL.

Fully 200 newspaper men, representing all the metropolitan newspapers of the country, were to be on hand at Mr. Roosevelt's first interview when he returned to Washington.

Of a sudden and like a bolt from a clear sky, he stopped at Chicago and made his famous Quarantine speech. It was a vicious denunciation of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan.

It Sounded 'Round the World

Up until this time, Mr. Roosevelt had never shown the slightest interest in foreign affairs.

Here now was a sensational utterance about which the State Department had not been consulted. It was swept clean off its feet.

The immediate effect was to blanket the Hugo Black matter. Nobody wanted to waste time now asking him about Hugo when the President of the United States had challenged a good part of the world, without any national strength to back it up.

Several writers on "How to be a Good Publicity Man" or "How to be a Good Propagandist" have cited this as one of the best examples of blanketing "adverse" news they have ever known.

Events have moved pretty fast since this headlong jump into the world arena. Demaree Bess, one of the best informed of foreign correspondents, wrote in the Saturday Evening Post several months later that the people of France and Great Britain were more worried about Mr. Roosevelt's meddling in European affairs than they were about Hitler.

His running mate, Mr. Wallace, now says that Mr. Willkie's party is one of appeasers. You never know what this means the way the New Dealers are using it.

The Boys Were Disturbed

Nowhere was Mr. Roosevelt's leap into world affairs more resented than among his Leftist associates in Washington. Their conviction was that with Mr. Roosevelt becoming "world-minded," they were sunk. They assumed he would draw Business Men into his councils.

But Mr. Roosevelt moved quickly to assure these Leftist associates that regardless of the arena in which he operated, they would be the fair-haired boys. The first test came when the famous Stettinius Board went to Washington and made a study of how to build up our National Defense. The Leftists made a demand that it be run out of town. It was. And its report was pigeon-holed. That's the report Mr. Willkie is trying to get Mr. Roosevelt to make public.

After this show of good faith on Mr. Roosevelt's part, the Leftists have become convinced that the TEN BILLION DOLLAR defense fund and Hitler hysteria offer a greater opportunity for making over this country's economic structure than they had before. So they've become world-minded, too.

MR. WILLKIE'S MILLIONS OF FOLLOWERS ARE NOT APPEASERS; NEITHER ARE THEY BUNGLERS NOR INTERVENTIONISTS.

SPEAK UP NOW!

THE FUTURE of the United States as a democratic nation, one of the very few left in the world, is literally in the balance.

We can become a militaristic state, as the pending Burke-Wadsworth Compulsory Conscription Bill contemplates.

Or we can continue our traditional freedom and equality by adopting the provenly successful, fair and honorable Swiss system of universal popular military service.

We can pattern our way of life after plans approved and favored by Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin.

Or we can leave our people free to enjoy the rights and liberties they love and cherish.

We can create a vast organization of Nazi-like control over the affairs of millions of men and their families.

We can deny young men of America the right to decide their own future in peacetime through legislation so drafted that those registered may be sent to battlefields for war at any moment.

We can lower the standard of living in millions of homes by an autocratic law which singles out some to bear the brunt of hardships and exempts others.

We can take away from a large group of loyal Americans their Constitutional guarantees of trial by jury and substitute trial by court martial.

Or we can, like Switzerland, enrich and protect our national life with a method of universal training that will help everyone and harm no one, save the invader we might have to resist.

LET US WAKE UP ! Let us open our eyes to all that the Burke-Wadsworth Bill wants to do and WILL DO, unless the people who value democracy cry HALT.

Let us not forget that among the amendments which have been proposed for this legislation is one to charge a fine of $10,000 or a prison term of five years to any person who in speech or writing opposes conscription AFTER THE BILL IS PASSED.

Let us not be misled by talk that this draft is only for a year's training, when we all know what the temptation is when governments find themselves in possession of great armies.

Let us not be blind to the fact that the ranks will be filled largely by the unskilled class of young Americans, from the high school and college graduates of the past few years who have not been able to find jobs, and from other young men holding good jobs which are not necessary to defense.

Let us not overlook the truth that the measure will allow the six million Fifth Columners, who are said by Congressman Dies to be making good livings in the United States, to escape military service and make better livings.

Let us as thinking Americans realize that the way to protect democracy is not to destroy it by a hysterical statute that invites the terrors of Naziism to our own land.

Waking up, let us write, telegraph, telephone or personally call on our Congressmen and Senators NOW.

Today is the day to speak. Tomorrow may be too late.

THE SWISS SYSTEM of universal popular military service assures us a true and enduring republic.

Mr. Hearst, in his column "In the News," explains it well. He says:

"In the Swiss system, every citizen is a potential soldier; but no soldier ever ceases to be a free and productive citizen, residing in his own home and pursuing his chosen occupation.

"A limited but adequate military training is merely a part of his life and duty—his pursuit and pleasure.

"At the age of 14, a reasonable physical and military training begins in the schools.

"At the age of 20 to 21, three months of active military training and practice is given the youth as an introduction to his duties of citizenship.

"After that the field military training is confined to one month of each year—or even less—and all in addition that is demanded of soldierly duty from the citizen is that he take his equipment home with him and keep it in good condition for the field practice of the coming year . . .

"All successful candidates are assigned to the branches of military service for which they are best suited, as determined by the occupations, professions or businesses which they habitually pursue.

"So that for the one month or less that a citizen performs his military practice in the field, he still adheres to the general line of occupation which he follows during the eleven months of his regular business.

"There is no more a policy of depriving a citizen of his habitual and sustaining occupation in the Swiss system than there is of depriving him of his home and his family life, or of transforming him from a creative, free man into a military robot.

"Indeed the period of 14- to 30-day yearly military practice is regarded as a pleasurable and beneficial outing, and enjoyed not only as a patriotic obligation gratefully performed but as an agreeable vacation."

THERE IS STILL TIME for Americans to make a choice.

On one side are Germany, Italy and other dictator countries with military systems similar to that which Congress is considering.

On the other side is Switzerland, still free, still strong, still one of the most democratic nations on the face of the earth.

MAKE YOUR CHOICE NOW!

Then communicate it IMMEDIATELY to your Congressman and Senators.

On The Side

By E. V. DURLING

IN THINGS designed to interest, influence and entertain the ideal combination is said to be a laugh and a tear. In the current songs the tear seems to be dominating the situation. Young women with tears in their voices to moan these sob songs are greatly in demand. Seems present day song enthusiasts are never so entertained as when they are having a good cry. Consider the titles. "I'll Never Smile Again," "I'm Nobody's Baby," "I Can't Love You Any More," "You Made Me Love You, I Didn't Want To Do It," etc." Why not a little something on the optimistic order of the yesteryear such as: "Singin' in the Rain," "My Blue Heaven," "Lady Play Your Mandolin," "When Yuba Plays the Rumba on His Tuba," "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," "Mama, I Wanna Make Rhythm," "The Night Is Young and You're So Beautiful." And last but surely not least "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?"

A Doctor's Legacy

DR. ZINSSER WRITES AS DEATH NEARS

TO FACE the loss of something hitherto casually accepted is often really to appreciate its value.

This is particularly true of life, and the late Dr. Hans Zinsser, noted Harvard bacteriologist, who succumbed to leukemia in New York on Wednesday, gives us dramatic evidence in his biography, modestly entitled "As I Remember Him."

Declaring with a doctor's reticence that he preferred to speak about himself in the third person, Dr. Zinsser wrote:

"Something took place in his mind that he regarded as a sort of compensatory adjustment to the thought that he would soon be dead.

"In the prospect of death, life seemed to be given a new meaning and fresh poignancy. From now on, instead of being saddened he found—to his own delighted astonishment—that his sensitiveness to the simplest experiences, even for such things that in other years he might hardly have noticed, was infinitely enhanced.

"When he awoke in the mornings, the early sun striking across the bed, the light on the branches of the trees outside his window, the noise of his sparrows, and all the sounds of the awakening street aroused in him all kinds of gentle and pleasing memories of days long past which had left their imprints—indelible but, until now, not consciously realized—of contentment and happiness.

"AS THE DISEASE caught up with him, R. S. felt increasingly grateful for the fact that death was coming to him with due warning, and gradually. So many times in his active life he had been near sudden death by accident, violence or acute disease; and always he had thought that rapid and unexpected extinction would be most merciful.

"But now he was thankful that he had time to compose his spirit, and to spend a last year in affectionate and actually merry association with those dear to him.

"He was not sure whether the world that was rushing by was going forward or backward. He wondered whether he had not, perhaps, been born a little too soon and remained unable to catch up with his time.

"Scientific progress had brought as much sorrow as happiness. With immensely enhanced powers of production, millions were out of work and starving. Ideas of democracy and individual freedom which he had accepted as the gradually evolved goals of centuries of struggle were not only being denied, but entire nations were frantically intent on destroying them.

"GREAT RACIAL masses seemed willing to fight and perish, if necessary, for their own enslavement. New so-called 'ideologies' were tearing up the foundations of all that men had thought firm and permanently established.

"And the intellectual calamity seemed to be that no one could say whether the turmoil was the result of avoidable stupidity or of the operation of laws of economic and social evolution that were acting on mankind as other laws had acted on the dinosaur and the saber-toothed tiger.

"At the time of his death he was as thoroughly bewildered as any thoughtful individual of our time is bound to be."

SAROYAN ACCEPTS RARE SCROLL

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—William Saroyan, who refused the $1000 Pulitzer Prize, nevertheless accepted the scroll, signed by Nicholas Murray Butler, which signified the award. That scroll is the rarest one ever issued by the Prize committee, for it contains a typographical error. Saroyan showed it to me in the study of his home in San Francisco. It reads "for 'The Time of Your Life,' and original American play'" . . . Saroyan, who has three new plays ready for this season, confided: "I'm going to embarrass the Pulitzer Prize committee this year because all three plays deserve the prize, and they'll just have to give it to me again." To ridicule their Award, however, Saroyan will issue his own prizes—a 15-cent scroll—to Ed Stettinius, George Washington Hill and other eminent gentlemen about whose business operations he knows absolutely nothing.

SPORTS DEPT.: This is the way Hugh Herbert tells it: Two fishing enthusiasts matched their exploits. The first told of catching a 200 lb. fish in the Columbia River basin. "I fished in the exact spot you describe," said the second, "and when I pulled in my line I found a lamp which was 200 years old—and it was still lit" . . . "Let's make a deal," suggested the first fish story teller. "I'll take off 100 pounds—if you'll turn out the light."

MUSIC DEPT.: Lily Pons and Andre Kostelanetz returned from Honolulu last week accompanied by Bill Schweitzer, the world's champion rifle shooter. Shortly after they had come to the islands, Lily decided to forego some of her singing practice in favor of learning how to shoot. Schweitzer agreed to give instruction to Miss Pons on condition that her husband consent . . . Andre was impressed with their arguments—but he was anxious to avoid all risks. And so Lily Pons, taking rifle instruction from the world's champion, did all her practice shooting in the crater of an extinct volcano in Honolulu.

HEALTH DEPT.: Ill and struggling to retain the 135 pounds remaining of the husky 200-pounder, which was once Tom Mooney, the man around whom stormed the most celebrated case in the history of American labor, now is a patient at St. Luke's hospital in Frisco. There, too, he is fighting to recapture the headlines which were his for so many years, for Mooney always has felt that he was destined to be remembered . . . His estranged wife tells of the early days of their marriage, when Tom and his bride would walk in the cemeteries of San Francisco. He would point to the tombstones of the dead and tell her: "See? All these men are forgotten. But I—I will be remembered for centuries."

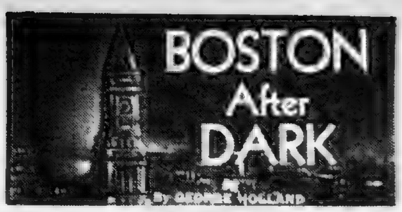
BUSINESS DEPT.: Dr. H. Clifford Loos, head of the Ross-Loos Clinic, took his sister, Anita Loos, and Edgar Bergen to a palmist in downtown Los Angeles. The palmist, without knowing the identity of the subject, told Dr. Loos all about himself and his medical activities . . . "This is amazing," said the physician . . . "It's really very simple," Bergen insisted . . . "Then you can explain it?" asked Dr. Loos . . . "Of course," Bergen shrugged. "It's just a common, ordinary miracle."



BOSTON After DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

A FEW IMPORTANT INDICTMENTS were supposedly imminent from the Norfolk County bailiwick of Mr. Dewing, but so far quiet . . . Broadway is booming again like a 21-gun salute . . . Classic in wishful-thought! If Detroit sweeps the Cleveland series, and the Red Sox take the Yankees after the A's, the Croninmen will be two and a half games out of first place on Sunday . . . Joe Rubin wants to start a chain-letter giving the Yawkeymen encouragement . . . At that, it isn't hopeless . . . Come on, Mr. Cronin, please!

- — — -

SOMEONE CALLING HIMSELF TED WILLIAMS and talking very politely and boyishly got connected with Connie Boswell through the Ritz switchboard . . . Connie was thrilled . . . If it really was The Kid, the sincerity of his admiration of Miss Boswell's singing has won him a real welcome, if he keeps the date he made to be one of the audience . . . The lovely, gracious Boswell honeychile will learn today from her husband-manager whether she heads for the Coast to take the Bing Crosby spot on the radio.

THE BATTLE BETWEEN THE broadcasting chains and ASCAP, the songwriters' mutual benefit and protective society, is getting so serious that this corner looks for at least an armistice, and mayhap peace . . . Singers are plugging BMI (Broadcasting Musica, Inc.) songs on all sustaining programs . . . But "Blueberry Hill," the much played ASCAP song, which rates in this book with the corniest ballads of the threadbare thirties, sold 7600 copies . . . Afterthought: Will they be called the Fabulous, the Fantastic, the Fateful, the Foolish, or the Fadeout (for civilization) Forties?

HERE'S ONE REASON you have to see—and judge—for yourself . . . George Clarke: "It's a good show, and all Ed Wynn" . . . Mrs. G. Holland: "Only two or three persons left, and the show didn't ring down until ten after twelve . . . The only two I saw leave were critics who had reviews to do . . ." . . . Someone else: "Cookie Fay left too . . . She had to make the second show at the Mayfair."

MARY CURLEY DONNELLY (looking lovelier than ever): "The production was marvelous . . . Scenery and costuming were grand. I liked it very much" . . . Mrs. H. (encore-ing): "I adore Ed, but it's the De Marcos' show right now"

DICK KRAKEUR, THE NEW YORK agent, and manager of Broadway's newest musical comedy star, Carol Bruce: "It's the De Marcos' show all right . . . But whether New York will spend $4.40 a seat for a glorified vaudeville show is dubious." . . . All: "The show needs some tunes. It needs one tune at least." . . . (Ed note: But musical comedy scores sometimes take weeks to catch on . . . Cole Porter's "Begin the Beguine" took five years to make the grade . . . If the song had been plugged by the Artie Shaw of those days (1935 wasn't it?) the song's show, the huge "Jubilee" might have been a hit . . . As it was, "Jubilee" lost a hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

CAROL BRUCE will open October 10 at the Waldorf with Eddie Duchin's orchestra as the other half of the double feature. New York hasn't been informed as yet . . . That makes myths of the stories that she was ready to leave "Louisiana Purchase" to do a picture called "Riviera" with a score by Jerome Kern . . . a Kern . . . K-e-r-n . . . Now what does that remind us of? . . . Oh . . . If there was a more ravishingly lovely lady gracing the Rialto last night than a Mrs. Harold G. (Betty) Kern, then this observer and a tableful of Ritz Roof ringsiders are cuh-razy . . . Perhaps we—personally—are a bit "tetched in de haid" for even mentioning it, she being the publisher's wife . . . But Harold G., who is a six-foot three, is a fair-minded gee . . . (Mmmm. That oughta fix it.)

CARMEN MIRANDA HEADS CAST

By Louella O. Parsons

Carmen Miranda

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5.—Carmen Miranda, the gal whose turbans and [illegible] Down Argentine Way became popular from Kansas to Modesto, is headed for Hollywood. That's [illegible] although Carmen did "Down Argentine Way" for Darryl Zanuck, the shots were made while she was working in a night club by a crew who went to New York to photograph her. When the picture was sneaked everyone did a rave over Carmen so now she's been signed to star in "They Met in Rio." Miranda, who was the singing idol of South America before she became the toast of Broadway, reaches here Nov. 1 with her own Brazilian band which will play accompaniments for her in "They Met in Rio."

While on the coast Carmen will do a play at the Ambassador Theater. Don Ameche will co-star with her in the picture "They Met in Rio." You can see what this picture will do in South America where she is so well known and loved.

ESTELLE WINWOOD

GILBERT MILLER and Lester Cowan are about to close a deal for the film rights to the successful murder mystery "Ladies in Retirement." The price is $100,000 and although Cowan doesn't say so I have a hunch Miller will retain an interest in the movie. Flora Robson will be asked to play the role she created on the stage and Estelle Winwood and Isabel Elson will also have a chance to repeat their performance on the screen. Cowan believes there should be one big movie name so he will sign a male star for the role of the thieving nephew. Naturally the picture will not be made until the play closes.

A CONSIDERABLE SUM of money was paid the Theater Guild by Franchot Tone for his release. He had signed a contract to take "Fifth Column," his New York play, on the road for them but because his picture engagements would interfere he settled the contract and obtained his freedom. He arrives in Hollywood next week and will start tests immediately for his "Trail of the Vigilantes" in which he plays "Kansas." This is the Western of which I wrote a few weeks ago. Remember Mischa Auer and Broderick Crawford have featured roles.

* * *

MRS. CLIVE BROOK and her two children reached here about a week ago and they are visiting Mrs. Elsie Torrance, the William Powells and the Warner Baxters. Clive remains with the British forces. Mrs. B. says that Elizabeth Allen who was in Hollywood for so long is trouping through the provinces with Ivor Novello to entertain the soldiers. Liz is reunited with her husband, Bill O'Brien, who is now a major in the anti-aircraft forces. "The morale of England," Mildred says, "is marvelous and although air raids are nerve wracking, people are getting so they seem through them and refuse to let them get under their skins."

* * *

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: The blond, good looking son of Joe E. Brown, Joe Leroy Brown, will wed Virginia Lee Newport Sept. 24 at the Westwood Community Church. Invitations were received today; Ann Sheridan and George Brent will marry sooner than anyone expects; Herbie Kay, once the husband of Dorothy Lamour, is marrying a Texas gal and a non-professional, before Christmas; Don Beery and Peggy Stewart will take their vows at the Little Church of the Flowers on Saturday.

* * *

TAMARA and Donald Briggs, Virginia Bruce's brother, doing the night spots together; Olympe Bradna and Roy Newbert, son of Nellie and Roy Newbert, a cute twosome at the El Capitan; Eddie Norris and Simone Simon a devoted twosome at the Hollywood Tropics; although Dolly Haas and John Brahm are talking divorce, he may put her in a picture in the fall; Olivia De Havilland attended Jimmie Stewart's preview of "No Time for Comedy" escorted by Burgess Meredith, Anatole Litvak and Jean Negulesco.

* * *

HELEN GILBERT has been asked to play a symphony in her home town; Buster Keaton has an invention he is taking up with the government for national defense; Binnie Barnes and 20th Century-Fox have parted company and she will free lance; Orson Welles and Dolores Del Rio looking too, too happy at Perino's.

Memorial Holds 'Lucky Partners'

Colman, Rogers Delight Fans

"Lucky Partners" is proving lucky all around and will remain a second week at Keith Memorial Theater, starting today.

Fans are about agreed that "lucky partners" is the phrase for the Ronald Colman-Ginger Rogers teaming and are especially delighted at Colman's sure comedy sense.

Briefly, the story concerns a gay Greenwich Village lass and a handsome stranger who win $6000 on a jointly owned sweepstakes ticket. He is persuaded to share the ticket with her on one condition—that she accompany him on a platonic honeymoon trip before she marries her staid boy friend and settles down to tranquil domesticity.

And soooo the lucky partners set off for Niagara, posing as brother and sister. The abrupt arrival of the jealous boy friend and a subsequent smalltown court trial completely rewrite the plot and contribute countless laugh situations.

As has been indicated, Colman and Miss Rogers are first-rate as the parties of the first and second part.

UPTOWN'S FILMS

Uptown's screen features for the week starting tomorrow will be "They Drive By Night," a thoroughly entertaining picture with Ida Lupino, Humphrey Bogart, George Raft and Ann Sheridan, and "The Boys from Syracuse," sprightly film version of the musical comedy streamlining Shakespeare.

BEVY OF BEAUTIES TO OPEN GAYETY'S BURLESQUE SEASON

Such glorified burlesque charmers as Nora Ford, Princess Aloha, Lillian Harrison, Hazel Walker and Lucille Raye are to be spotlighted in the Gayety's new show, which tomorrow night reopens this theater's fall burlesque season.

Balancing this symposium of sugar and spice will be a blue-plate special in the way of comedy that should find complete satisfaction on the part of burlesque fans. "Bumps" Mack, "Hello" Jake Fields and Frankie Lee are a trio of funnymen that among them should break down anyone's laugh resistance. They are supported by straight-man Bob Rogers and Singing Bob Goodman.

NORA FORD

"Chuck" Gregory is the producer and he is said to have put together a show that is a lulu, and as lavish as it is laugh-getting.

Tomorrow night and every Friday night throughout the season, the Gayety will offer a gala midnight show, "The Midnight Shambles," with the orchestra seats reserved.

WYNN LOONIER THAN EVER; REVUE ABOUNDS IN TALENT

Perfect Fool Romps to Hit

By PEGGY DOYLE

It's a julu, Ed Wynn's new revue, and the Perfect Fool's loonier than ever.

Which is one way of nutshelling it to you that "Boys and Girls Together," which opened last night at the Shubert . . . and kept the customers long past curfew . . . will do but indubitably.

It's got, best of all, Wynn, whose face has it all over Helen of Troy's for our money and whose silly cackle is a No. 1 trouble-shooter in any language, at his monologuing tops; dancing that, like the turkey-red carpent Mr. W. personally lays down for his dream-girls, is 200 per cent wool and two yards wide; a song, "I Want to Live," sung by Jerry Cooper, et al, that is a natural for the hit parade; a book that is as zany and irresistible as its perpetrator; beauties in the most gorgeous of gowns and gewgaws that would make Earl Carroll gnash his molars; Jane Pickens looking even lovelier than her radio voice listens and . . .

But this can't go on and on . . . and neither will the Wynn show after Producer-Writer-Star "Schiaparelli" Wynn and his brain trust start scissoring an hour or so of it

• • •

It's not all beer and skittles yet for this ultimate Broadway hit. At this writing the boys and girls have already begun their homework on it for as the Kohinoor of Klowns himself said last night "it's more messed up than Willkie's hair." But, from us to you, a whole lot prettier and punnier (excuse it, please!), possibly Wynnsome is the word for it

You took the words right out of our Underwood—"Boys and Girls Together" is as full of puns as its creator's closet is of fugitive-from-Esquire hats and things.

It also has talent galore, which will shine even brighter when the Master Carpenter squares off the corners, does some shaving here and there and dovetails the whole business with the precise exactitude that has resulted in 14 straight boxoffice hits in the 25 years since Ziegfeld introduced him in his "Follies."

In the forefront of this talent parade are Edna Sedgwick, Walter Long and Phyllis Colt, youngsters tabbed by George "Boston After Dark" Holland as worth watching. Miss Colt sings and the other two both sing and dance. As Talent Scout Holland predicts, this should be only the beginning for these star-dusted kids.

• • •

Another of destiny's pets is Sally Craven, whose lilting dancing is something to get lyrical about. Nor should it be news that the incomparable De Marcos are still that way, referring to their show-stopping dancing that is.

Of show-stopping quality is Dave Apollon's contribution which is a variety show in itself and notable for his mandolin magic.

Blushing happily with Mr. W over the first-nighters' unconfined enthusiasm—the thunderous applause, at times, made the Perfect Fool think "Roosevelt was behind me"—were Pat C. Flick, who collaborated on the book, Irene Sharraf, who designed the costumes Veronica erecuted, Albertina Rasch, responsible for the choreography; John McManus, musical director; Oden Waller, who designed the sets, Lyric-writers Jack Yellen and Irving Kahal and Sammy Fain, who wrote the score.

WYNN'S GOT ANOTHER HIT

Gala New Show at Globe Friday

Marie Cord, otherwise referred to as "Gypsy Rose Lee's double," heads the new travelling burlesque show scheduled to open at the Globe Theater tomorrow.

"While darling Marie," as the press agent puts it, "is not primarily built and presented to tug at the heart strings her beauty is sufficient to create a tie of friendship that might well develop into a bow-knot of love."

All of which makes La Cord at least the queen of the Globe's forthcoming footlights frolics. Eye-taking too, is Queen Cord's court of beauty, according to the advance word. These include Rita De Vere from south of the border, Buster Phillips plus the dernier cri in Philippine hulas and Bon Bonne, described as a refugee from Paris' naughtiest night spots. Last but not least, there will be the ubiquitous and decorative 30 dancing dolls.

Marty King is to rule the comedy division with the assistance of Will Hays, Paul West, Megg Lexing, Harry Ryan and Irving Benson.

Vaudeville will be represented ably by the Six Men of Melody, Ellen O'Meara, Alpha and Omega, the Sensational Converts and others. Again this season there will be that complete burlesque shows daily with the [illegible] starting the day at 9 a.m. [illegible] continuously when [illegible] show is [illegible] Sunday starting at 12:01 a.m. there will be another "Owl" show [illegible] burlesque at [illegible] acts from loca[illegible]

Sea Thriller Comes to Trans-Lux Screen

Starting tomorrow, the Trans-Lux Theater will present a motion picture with a new theme, titled "Hell's Cargo," which tells the strange and thrilling story of how the Russian, French and English navy units unite to fight a common peril.

"Hell's Cargo" is solid action throughout as well as being refreshingly different. And the idea of a new kind of poison gas that rolls rapidly across the ocean is particularly ominous in these times when only the broad Atlantic lies between America and Europe.

On the same program the Trans-Lux Theater will show the Paramount technicolor picture of a few years back, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which stars Fred MacMurray, Henry Fonda and Sylvia Sidney.

WHO IS HE?—Can you identify the above picture player from the following clues? 1—Born in Antrim, Ireland. 2—At 17 went to Tasmania on an exploration trip. 3—Wrote newspaper column. 4—Owned and operated a pearl-fishing boat. 5—Spotted in a London show, thence to Hollywood stardom.

3RD DAY OF CONTEST IN 'SEA HAWK' SERIES

Today is the third in the fascinating series of clues dealing with stars as appearing in "The Sea Hawk," having its local premiere at the Metropolitan Theater today.

The clues above deal with one of the stars of "The Sea Hawk." The photograph, accompanying the clues, contains the star. Who is it?

Some of the players appearing in "The Sea Hawk" include such favorites as Robert Warwick, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Flora Robson, Gilbert Roland, Alan Hale, Errol Flynn, Brenda Marshall and Una O'Connor.

Save all your solutions until tomorrow's fourth set of clues and photograph appear. Then send all of them to the Sea Hawk Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop Sq., Boston. Include a letter of not more than 50 words on: "Why I consider Errol Flynn the greatest portrayer and adventure and romantic characters on the screen." These letters will be used only in the event of ties.

Originality in presentation and accuracy will determine winners. Letters must be postmarked not later than midnight, Friday, September 6.

Valuble prizes include: The new RCA Personal Radio, which is offered and exhibited by Manager Harry Canler of the Keenan Radio Co., 88 Stuart st., Boston. This sensational camera-type radio operates on a battery anywhere. It can be carried about much like a camera, with a shoulder strap arrangement. Weighing about four pounds, this radio will be autographed by Errol Flynn and Brenda Marshall. Next five awards include five Shaeffer Pen and Pencil sets from Melnick Bros. Pen House, 5 Bromfield st. and 50 guest Metropolitan Theater tickets and 50 of the new Brenda Marshall Kisses bags, direct from Hollywood.

"WELL, I says, the guests on my floor are permanent. They won't stand for havin' their towels and bed linen cut down. What do you think the old crow said to that?"

"What did she say, Molly?"

"If the chembermaids don't like the rules of the new housekeeper, says the old bat, I'll find it very easy to replace them. An' what do you think I says to that?"

"What did you say, Molly?"

"Consider me bounced, I says to the old witch. I worked in this place when it had class an' was run like a real hotel, not a cheap dump. So good day to you. I says I'll collect what's due me on my way out!"

"Molly! You didn't say that!"

"I did indeed, Miss Webber. But before I go now, I came to make up your room, an' leave you some fresh towels—an' tell you I'll be back to see you, soon as I get my next job."

Molly Noonan, brown-eyed and buxom, in the full flower of her late twenties, looked at the frail, white-haired, kimono-clad figure which emerged from behind the screen concealing the corner sink.

"Oh, Molly!" Celia Webber gasped. "What will I ever do without you?"

The little old lady sat down by the window that overlooked a court, now dark as pitch though it was bright sunlight in the New York streets, and ten o'clock of a late Summer morning.

When she was dressed for the street an hour later, her makeup applied with an actress' consummate skill, Molly knew there would be roses blooming in those faded cheeks.

Celia Webber must have been seventy-five, but when she went out, she had the poise and bearing of a woman half her age. Her features were still fine and handsome, her blue eyes keen and bright.

Molly often watched her, as she passed down the hotel corridor, on her way to make the daily rounds of theatrical offices, in search of work. "Sure you look like a royal queen!" Molly would call out after her.

A GREAT ACTRESS

Molly had never seen Celia Webber act, but from pictures on the walls of her room, she must have been a prime beauty. She had a scrapbook that she sometimes read pieces from, while Molly was making the bed. The praise given Celia Webber's acting in those days, before the turn of the century, was like nothing Molly read in theatrical columns now. The critics just raved about her.

The 10 years Molly Noonan had been chambermaid on Celia's floor, the actress had appeared in but few plays. Her parts had been very small, and Molly often wondered what kind of a business this was, where instead of an actress getting promoted as she went along, she got less and less to do.

The Cast of Characters in "It Takes A Cook."

CELIA WEBBER, an actress who has seen better days.

MRS. ALEXANDER, a society queen of earlier decades.

It Takes A Cook

By Hollis Starnes

"That's show business," Celia explained carefully. "The stage is for youth and beauty. The actress who doesn't know that, and holds on to her money when the going's good, is a fool." Celia had not been a fool. "I'd have had enough to live in comfort the rest of my days," she confided to Molly, "except my stocks went way down in the depression."

It was then that she had moved from a sunny room on the street side, over to her cubbyhole on the court. "I've never had to ask charity yet," she would tell Molly. "The Lord always provides a way."

However, Molly had given the Lord a hand, for it worried her the way the old actress lived in her dark little coop, cooking her meals surreptitiously on an electric plate, behind her sink screen. "It's not healthy, livin' that way out o' tin cans," the maid protested.

"In my young days I never learned to cook," Celia answered, "so I'd not eat at all if it weren't for the cans." Soon Molly grew alarmed at the scarcity even of empty tins, in her favorite guest's trash basket.

Now Molly was a wonderful cook. Every day when she got home from work, she cooked a big dinner for her father and four brothers in Brooklyn. So she started taking along a daily "leftover" to the hotel for Celia Webber. For more than a year now the actress had lived handsomely on Molly's cooking.

"I've had good cooks in my day," she would say as she devoured Molly's fine fare, "but never have I known your equal, sweet Molly-O."

"A MARVELOUS IDEA"

After Molly, in a burst of temper at the new housekeeper that morning had thrown up her job, her first thought was for Celia. As she looked at the old lady, her heart smote her. She knew Celia would starve rather than ask for food on hotel credit. She had trouble enough meeting the weekly bill for her room. So when she sank down by the window and gasped, "What will I ever do without you?" Molly was overcome with remorse.

Quickly, however, she put on some of Celia's own brand of armor and said gayly: "You'll not do without me long, please God. I'll have another job in no time—I'm strong and I love work. But I'm fed up with bedmakin', Miss Webber. I'm goin' to try for a job as cook."

"Wonderful!" approved Celia. "You're a much better cook than women I've paid hundreds a month to. I'd give you a recommendation any day."

"Do you mean that?" demanded Molly. "For you know what these agencies are—I'll get no chance as a cook on a chambermaid's reference."

"I've a marvelous idea!" cried Celia. "I'm an honest woman, Molly, and I always try to tell the truth. But where's the harm in your giving my name as a reference—I can in all truth testify that you're a grand cook. When they say, 'How long was she with you?' I'll say 10 years."

"When they say 'How long was she with you?' I'll say ten years."

"Praise God," said Molly Noonan. "With the Fall season on, and people comin' back like flies from the Summer places, there'll be plenty of cooks' jobs. When I get one, every night I'll stop by with a bit of a sample for you. It's all goin' to work out fine!"

Several days later, on her way back from a fruitless round of Broadway offices, Celia found a note in her box to call Mrs. Grant Spillman Alexander. The name was familiar; Celia had been reading it in society columns for nearly fifty years. When she was reigning on Broadway, Mrs. Alexander was Fifth Avenue's favorite belle.

"It's probably a mistake," thought the actress as she put in the call, "but anyhow I've always wanted to speak to Juliet Alexander."

The butler who answered said: "Oh yes, Miss Webber, Mrs. Alexander was hoping you'd telephone."

JOY FOR ALL

And in a moment, the dowager was telling Celia what a pleasure it was to speak to her, and how much she had always admired her in the theater.

"But I wouldn't have trespassed on a busy actress' time just to tell her that," the great lady went on. "I'm calling about your cook, Molly Noonan." What with times as they were, she explained, and her family married and scattered to the four winds, she was closing her house and taking an apartment for the Winter. There were retrenchments to be made in her household staff. She wanted just one cook. Could Molly manage without an assistant?

"She's been with me ten years," said Celia. "I'm living in a hotel now, and heartbroken to lose her. I found her most adaptable and willing. An excellent cook and a most agreeable person to have about."

The prospective employer was delighted. Any servant who had satisfied Celia Webber for ten years was certain to please her. "Won't you come sometime," she asked, "and have one of Molly's dinners with me? It would give me great pleasure."

The following week the Alexander limousine called for Celia, and she dined in state at a penthouse overlooking the river. She and her hostess lost track of hours, as they talked of the glittering days when they were queens of their different realms.

"Please come again soon!" said the hostess as her guest left. "I may tell you Molly worries over your health, existing on hotel food after her home cooking. Oblige a lonely woman and her cook by coming often."

So Celia has been obliging, several evenings a week; and it would take a Solomon to decide which of these women got the most pleasure from this happy arrangement.

But Molly Noonan has a new plan up her sleeve. The sight of a sunny, spacious, river view guest room, standing empty, gave her the idea. "With the holidays comin' on, all I have to do is mention it to Mrs. Alexander," she told Celia, "an' she'll be dyin' to have you. It takes a cook to fix a queen!"

Mrs. Marmai Is Dead at 36

Mrs Frances Bishop Marmai, 36, died suddenly today at her home, 335 Norfolk ave, Dorchester. She is survived by her husband, Mario, and a 3-year-old son, Mario, Jr.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bishop of South Boston, both of whom survive her together with four sisters and two brothers.

Mrs. Marmai's death came as a great shock to her family and friends.

Surviving sisters are Margaret, Gertrude, Rose and Ethel. Her brothers are Joseph and John, the latter an assistant city editor of the Boston Daily Record.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Car Plunge Kills Parents, Girl, 16

Three members of a West Springfield family were killed when their automobile plunged down a 45-foot embankment into Walker brook in Becket, as six more automobile deaths were added today to Massachusetts motor toll.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frilen and their 16-year-old daughter, Virginia. A passer, investigating a broken guard rail, found the trio all dead in their wrecked automobile.

In Roxbury, Mildred Ward, 3, of Beale st., Winthrop, was struck and killed on Howard ave., where she was visiting with friends; John W. Johnson, 8, of Scituate st., Arlington, was struck and killed while he was walking along the Concord turnpike near his home and in Lynn, Louis Gangario, 13, of Fuller st., Lynn, was fatally injured when the bicycle he and a pal were riding was struck by an automobile.

CASH READY FOR BASES

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 5 (AP)—Secretary Knox told newsmen today that $25,000,000 will be spent at once preparing the air and naval base sites leased from Great Britain

AUSTEN LAKE

S'Fun, Ain't It? or An X-Ray of Bettors

AUSTEN LAKE

THE LONG, STUCCO GRANDSTAND, the awninged clubhouse and the horticultural lawns at Narragansett are a-churn with people. Around the paddock railings, where the sinewy dobbins are being walked or given last-minute manicures by stable swipes, folk are packed five deep. Jocks in their vivid satins listen while trainers whisper final instructions. The great commonality who make the backbone of the horse gambling business, Mr. and Mrs. Two-bucks, scuttle to and fro, buying pasteboard illusions, pausing to suck a pop bottle, or gnaw a sandwich or listen to wisdom fresh from the horse-barns. These are you-and-me type of folks, some vivacious, some morbid. But at the first blurt of the bugle the crowd drifts toward the grandstand apron and their horses waggle their glistening rumps down the paddock lane.

S'fun, ain't it?

How many among the thousands who wager their money every day—little rivulets which feed the pari-mutuel reservoirs, have more than a superficial knowledge of the steeds they wager on or the influences that affect each race 'twixt stable and finish?

Sure! The bettor knows from a study of his form chart that a horse named Halitosis, the object of his favor, finished third last time out, that it ran a couple of times at Rockingham and once at Suffolk. He knows its time and position at each quarter pole. He knows that Butch Kinsella, the veteran jockey, is up and that the mount is trained by Sid Gulch. He even knows the name of Halitosis' pappy and mammy (sired by Acidocis out of Asthma).

But he doesn't know, maybe, that the animal is recovering from a throat infection; has a sensitive fetlock or one of the 50 little equine ills; that its trainer is sending it on a conditioning romp. Nor can he know whether the beast, in the peculiarities of horse psychology, is nervously alert or secretly sullen. For horses, like humans, are heirs to passing moods and sudden whims. Nor does the trustful bettor know whether the trainer or owner deems it wise to extend the mount, should the going prove tough, especially at the quoted tote-board odds. (O Fudge, dearie! they wouldn't do that . . . would they?)

Shux Folks, Don't Despair!

THE GENT OR LADY WHO RISKS his or her pin, fun, grocery, or rent money as the case may be, knows very little about the more vital matters of each race and the best that he, or she, can do is to judge whether the horse has been running well and what its potential promise is in the field. Then he, or she, looks at the tote board and sees that the odds are so-and-so. So they buy $2 worth of optimism and then, if the beast blows, they tear up the stub, cuss softly and say sadly, "Whatta dog!" But shucks, folks, don't despair! Halitosis may win the next time out, or the next, or the next, ad infinitum. S'fun, ain't it?

Or (podden the crass note of cynicism!) do the folk who purchase high-hope know about the jockeys—those undersized, self-starved midgets from everywhither who are sometimes mere lap-cuddling babes of grammar school age and sometimes sun-scorched adults with clefts of agony etched in their cheeks? For each bettor wagers not alone on the zing and whoosh in horses' limbs, but he bets on the integrity of the human crickets on their backs, the sincerity of the trainer and owner, the swipes who fork out their timothy hay and Lady Luck's myriad mischiefs. (I know my theme is unpopular with the magnates of New England's mad whirligig!)

Of course the horse player gets to know the jockeys by sight. Over there is the baby-faced Maurice Berger, the bantam who drives his own special-bodied motor car. And that cocky splinter is Warren Yarberry who first hit his winning form at Rockingham. And yonder is Wally Taylor, the Texas whisker who is the leading rider in New England. And Walter Connolly of Worcester and Eddie Smith, the fist fighter from Pawtucket, and Eddie Decammillas, an alumnus of Babe Ruth's industrial alma mater who got his first riding job through the kindly offices of the Xavierian brothers of Baltimore.

These kids are honest, just as all youth in its first pristine glory is honest. But a minority of others have learned little tricks and how to pare one's scruples. And small wonder, considering the temptatious surroundings and money-hunger which besets them on all sides at an age when they are scarcely old enough to think independent thoughts.

You and You and Me

SO THE AVERAGE RACE-GOER—you, and you, and you and me, are innocent of the most vital things which affect our racing funds. We know little about the owners except that they might be rich men who spend fortunes to breed and support their strings, or that they are gypsies who trundle from track to track in trailers and live by the wayside from hand to gullet. Yet this and more, goes into the emotional panorama of the horse track and the hazy formulae on which New England, once known as the soul of American thrift and sagacity, risks its millions on a horse's neck, or the last wriggle of its rump. Do I chide you, Mr. and Mrs. Two-bucks? Dear, No! I commiserate! It's your dough, your intestinal tickles and your remorse.

Well then, my final summation is that the race-player knows only what he can decipher from the cold, black type in the little tout fliers, the professional forms and the newspaper picks. Which, for the sake of the proprietors and the state dividends, is just as well. For the most fascinating trait of the game is its mystery and the people who make the money-mare go, not to mention the cash-colts and financial-fillies, and the ones who rush up to the wickets on the wings of last-minute inspiration and chortle breathlessly, just before the closing gong, "Gimme two bucks worth of Buzzard's Breakfast." S'fun, ain't it?

SOX BUY FIELDING ACE IN HUNT FOR CRONIN SUB

Bright and early this morning Eddie Collins of the Red Sox was on the phone to announce that the club has purchased Lamar "Skeeter" Newsome, a shortstop, from the Baltimore club of the International League, agreeing to send two players to the Orioles as well as a chunk of money for the classy fielding but light-hitting infielder.

Newsome will not don a Red Sox uniform until the spring of 1941 at Sarasota when he will report to Manager Joe Cronin, possibly to take over the shoes of the Sox pilot. The purchase of Newsome lends credence to the rumors that Cronin will manage the Sox from the bench next season.

According to sharp baseball critics, Newsome is one of the fanciest fielding shortstops in the business. He also looked like a decent hitter when he first came up with Connie Mack's Athletics in 1936 and Mack had him tabbed as a future great. Newsome was beaned in 1937 in an exhibition game and hasn't regained stride until this campaign.

Newsome recovered partially from the first "beaning" and then was hit on the head again in 1938. H played 93 games for the A.'s in the 1939 season, wearing a specially-devised headguard for protection.

The wallops on the head made Newsome noticeably gun-shy at the plate and for this reason Mack let him go to the minor leagues to recover his posture and confidence.

Newsome has made a comeback with Baltimore. His fielding has been sensational and he's been hitting .269, batting out 36 doubles and chipping in with timely wallops for the Orioles.

Sox scouts have kept a careful eye on him and reported to Fenway headquarters that Newsome, now 28, is all that Connie Mack expected him to be before his rise was interrupted by the wild pitches which floored him in successive seasons. In 1937 Newsome was so severely injured that it was feared the injury would prove fatal.

It was added that one of the players who'll go in part payment for Newsome will be Hal Seiling, shortstop, recently recalled from the Red Sox farm at Little Rock. Seiling had a tryout last spring with the Sox. The other player will be named later.

No one at Fenway Park would comment further on the acquisition of Newsome.

Will he take over at short for Cronin?

Will Cronin shift to second with Bobby Doerr moving to short, making Newsome first-call utility infielder?

Is Cronin going to step out as playing-manager and call them from the bench?

You will probably know nothing about this until 1941 but the Sox officials must be planning some new set-up in getting Newsome on the roster.

Junior Averill Can't See Dad's Team on Peak

ST. PAUL, Sept. 5 (AP)—"Naw! The Detroit Tigers won't win the American League pennant."

The informant was Earl Averill, Jr., son of the Detroit outfielder, and he was traveling west on the train Wednesday with his youngest brother, Lester, on the way to Snohomish, Wash., the old home town. Earl did the talking for the two as far as baseball is concerned. He wants to follow in his father's footsteps, but he isn't particular whether he plays the outfield or not.

"I'll play any position," he added. Lester, well, he ducks his head and shyly admits he doesn't have baseball ambitions.

Earl is nine years old, his brother seven.

FRIENDLY ENEMIES—Max Baer, left, amiably explains contract clauses to Pat Comiskey after pair sign to fight in Jersey City, Sept. 26. Baer, ex-heavyweight champion, intends to make Comiskey the next stepping stone on his path back toward a title shot. Comiskey may have something to say about that.

Kearns Blinds Jacobs Beach With $30,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (INS)—Eyes were still bulging today along Jacobs beach as New York city's pugilistic business reservation is euphemistically known.

The eyes started bulging when Promoter Jack Kearns dug down in his slacks yesterday and came up with 30 one-thousand-dollar bills to clinch the signing of the Max Baer-Pat Comiskey fight at Roosevelt stadium, Jersey City, Sept. 26.

The bout will go 15 rounds and Baer will get either Kearns' $30,000 or 30 per cent of the gate plus 50 per cent of the radoi receipts. Comiskey gets 15 per cent of the net gate

Bees Play 2 With Jints

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—Casey Stengel and his troublesome Bees make their last Polo Ground appearance of the year this afternoon with a twin bill against the faltering Giants.

The Bees, just a soft touch for the Giants earlier in the season, are now really tough as the season nears its end.

Today the Terrymen are forced to stack up against Jim Tobin and Manny Salvo, both of whom figure to be plenty tough. Salvo is the castoff the Giants gave to the Bees and he has made the Giants regret it ever since.

WON SIX AS BEE

Not only has he won six games since joining the club in June but he really hung it on Bill Terry's outfit last time he met them.

If Salvo and Tobin come anywhere near Dick Errickson's performance of yesterday, the Bees figure to grab a pair. Dick came up with a near masterpiece in shutting out the Giants 2 to 0, thanks to Eddie Miller's home run with Chet Ross on base.

HUBBELL NEARLY AS GOOD

But Errickson is really the story. Rucker beat out a scratch hit in the first inning, and from then on until the eighth not a member of the Giants reached first base. Dick weakened and was touched for four hits in the last two frames but managed to pitch himself out of trouble.

Old Carl Hubbell, his opponent, was the victim yesterday. He pitched a game that would win nine out of 10 times, but this was the 10th time. Outside of his bad pitch to Miller, he had the Bees almost as helpless as his own mates were against the shoots of Errickson.

GIANT KILLER—Eddie Miller of the Bees scores on homer after driving in Chet Ross to make score 2 to 0 against Giants in New York yesterday. Miller's wallop gave Bees their winning margin. Eddie appears very unconcerned by his feat. Victory efforts are such a habit to the Bees they make them as a matter of course.

Tackle Problem Big Headache For Hanley

Boston University's grid squad settled down to serious work this morning having gone through all the opening day delays such as equipment, medical examinations limbering up and get togethers.

From today right through until September 28 when the Terriers open with Norwich, there will be no letup.

In fact conditioning drills and light work will continue only until Saturday, and by Monday, the pads will be used daily with plenty of contact work and scrimmage on tap.

Coach Pat Hanley was quite well satisfied with his opening day turnout, and after the twin drill was over he took a fairly optimistic attitude.

"We should be a bit heavier and even faster than last year chirped the Terrier mentor. "It would be a little too much to say that we could upset Boston College or Manhattan, but barring bad injury breaks, we should come through with our share of victories.

"The tackles are my major concern. I have moved Johnny Wedemeyer there from a halfback and I hope that he together with Ray Valas, Ed Rooney and George Radulski can fill the bill.

"If they fail, I will have to make a raid on my guard squad which looks good right now, but if I move any of them out, it will definitely weaken that department.

"Let Rooney, Valas, Wedemeyer and Radulski stand up and we may have some fun with our opponents at that," concluded Pat Hanley.

Oh, for a Shifty Gears at Fens

KOCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Harold "Shifty" Gears, who pitched Kodak Park to a national softball championship in 1936, set out today to repeat at Detroit.

The almost-legendary righthander, who admits to 32 years, has had 698 victories against 88 losses over his 19-year career. During that time he amassed 310 shutouts, hurled 55 no-hit games and struck out 11,560 batters.

Gears pitches less often now. The no-hitters come the hard way and the strikeouts are fewer, but he still wins. This year he triumphed in 15 of 16 games, struck out 130 and held his opponents scoreless eight times.

The stocky pitcher, wearing thick-lensed eyeglasses, employs a fast ball, curve, riser, drop and change of pace. He mixes his wind-ups and deliveries. Opponents say they never know where the ball will come.

In the national tournament of 1936, Gears pitched five games in three days, shutting out his opponents in four contests and almost single-handedly winning the championship.

The teacher today had shown the pupils how to smash par on the golf course. Playing with three friends, John Igoe, Jr., professional at the Weld golf course, broke the course record with a sparkling 30—33—63. The old record was held by Tom Mahan, of United Shoe, who once carded a 65.

N. E. A. A. A. U. Hold Outing Sunday

On Sunday members of the Board of Managers of the N. E. A. A. A. U., will gather at the farm of Johnny Brassil, located on the Concord rd., in Billerica, to enjoy their annual outing and clam bake.

The committee in charge, headed by Bill Downing of Lynn, has completed arrangements for a standout affair. Two soft-ball teams, captained by Benny Osthues and Tam Sheehan, will battle. Benny is boasting of what his old-timers will do to the younger crowd.

The outing will be held, rain or shine. The farm is reached by followng route 4, and is located on the Concord rd., Billerica, the first place over the Bedford line.

Reservations can be made by contacting J. Frank Facey, or any member of the committee.

Indians Even Money To Win A. L. Flag

By Associated Press

Latest pennant race prices: Cleveland, even money; Yankees 2-1; Detroit 4-1 . . . One of the most important boxing states in the republic is all set to leap aboard the N. B. A. bandwagon next week.

Dick Chapman, the socialite golfer-crooner, is picked to win the national amateur . . . Jack Kearns will have to net $55,000 to stay out of the red on Baer vs. Comiskey and lots of folks think he won't do it.

Don Budge, who detects a sort of counterfeit ring to the national singles championships, is stringing along with Bobby Riggs and La Marble . . . Doc Sutherland is very, very high on Banks M'Fadden.

* * *

Jack Singer, N. Y. Journal-American: "The greatest job of wrecking since Mayor La Guardia tore down the Sixth ave. 'L' is confronted by Willie Terry this winter . . . He must break up the Giants before they break him . . . There is nothing wrong with the Giants that a new ball club wouldn't cure."

* * *

That's Hank Prusoff, the tenniser, with the red pan . . . while entering a movie, a light-fingered dip lifted Hank's wallet containing 110 yams . . . He removed the dough, then, to rub it in, put the empty purse back in Prusoff's pocket.

Henry Armstrong lays his title on the line against Phil Furr at Washington, Sept. 23 . . . Johnny Murphy, Yankee relief pitcher, has a baby. Ditto Herb Hash of the Red Sox.

Mike Jacobs has promised Billy Conn that if he licks Bob Pastor, he can have a shot at Joe Louis in the Garden, Oct. 3.

The Washington Senators are reported negotiating for the Springfield (Mass.) franchise in the Eastern League . . . First man to check in for the National Amateur Golf meet at Mamaroneck was Maurice M'Carthy of Cincinnati.

Bing Crosby had 'em talking with a 73 on his second time out . . . Jim Mallory, who chucked a football career at North Carolina U. to sign with Washington, was the standout of the recent national semi-pro tournament.

* * *

Pete Layden, Texas U's classy tailback, is a cousin of the Notre Dame coach and how Elmer ever let Pete get away is a misery to us, as the late Ring Lardner's "Jack Keefe" used to say.

* * *

There is a chap named Seltzer on the Michigan grid squad who is probably resigned to being known as Bromo from now on.

ALL-STARS OUTCLASS GIANTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (INS)—The first defeat ever suffered by the New York Giants in nine all-star football games—including five in as many years with the eastern college all-stars in games here—seems to indicate today that the local cash-and-carry warriors are going to be something less than a tornado in the National League this season.

In losing to the Eastern Collegians by 16 to 7 last night, the Giants looked so bad that you were made to wonder how they will manage to do any winning at all against their tough fellow-professionals this season.

With Condit, of Carnegie Tech, who made a 93-yard touchdown run; McLaughry, of Brown; Cahill, of Holy Cross and Ananis, of Boston College, in the backfield; Nowaskey, of George Washington, at end; and a gent named Jocher, of Manhattan, in a smooth and fierce line, the All-Stars won by a tried old formula, viz:

They out-passed, out-ran, outfought and out-played the Giants, who were sluggish and quite befuddled by it all, while 39,405 spectators roared the collegians on to a victory that was packed with explosive theatrics.

PASSED GIANTS DAFFY

The first quarter was slow but prophetic of things to come in the manner of the All-Stars' successful thrusts. After that there never was a dull moment, as the All-Stars ran through, around and over the Giants and forward-passed the latter daffy.

They started one second period march that included running plays mixed in with eight successful forwards in 11 attempts, but were stopped by an interception deep in Giant territory. Then the fireworks began to pop.

The Giants had just taken possession of the ball on the interception when Kay Eakin lifted his arm for a pass and was smacked so hard that the ball squirted into the arms of Jocher who stepped 35 yards to a touchdown.

In the third quarter, Condit kicked a 20-yard field goal to make it 9 to 0, and only the fine work of little Eddie Miller prevented the Giants from being shut out. In the last period he heaved passes and stepped nimbly about the premises to work the ball to the All-Stars' three, from where Neilson bucked it over on fourth down, and Barnum kicked the point.

The Giants began tossing passes in despair, tried a field goal, plunged headlong into determined young men who flung them heavily upon the ground and, in general, were put to rout. Coach Tuss McLauhry, of Brown, had the winners tutored close to the point of perfection.

Rookie Balks At Boost To Majors

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 5 (AP)—Dewey Adkins, a country kid who didn't want to get into organized baseball, was sold by the Oklahoma City Indians to the Cleveland Indians, thus completing in one year a trip from the sandlots to the major leagues.

The 21-year-old, 200-pound native of Wilsonville, Neb., who has won seven games and lost one since he came here recently from Pine Bluff, Ark., won his chance at the big show by topping Fort Worth, 2-1, with a five-hitter last night. The victory clinched a First Division spot for the Indians.

Business Manager Jimmy Humphries keep Adkins' sale price a secret.

"Son, you've cost me $25 replacing street lights and it's time you paid me back. There's a sandlot ball game here tonight and you're gonna pitch."

Adkins, who wanted to work in a filling station, protested, but his father insisted. Finally he went out and pitched a shutout. Later, he hooked on with Palisade, Neb., and after burning up 21 wins against 7 defeats he signed up with Oklahoma and was sent to Pine Bluff.

Two months later, after he had piled up victory after victory at Pine Bluff, the Indians called for him.

"I'm not interested," he said, but after four long-distance phone calls he agreed to come here.

Armstrong to Fight Furr in Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Washington Variety Club announced today Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong would defend his title here Sept. 23 in a 15-round charity bout against Phil Furr.

CONN 8 TO 5 FAVORITE OVER RUGGED PASTOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—There's to be a fight at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night between Billy Conn, the light heavyweight champion, and Bob Pastor.

If you want to know much more than that about it, however, you'll have to mix with the fight "mob," for they're the only ones showing any great amount of interest.

Promoter Mike Jacobs is looking for somewhat better returns than he would have received if the scrap had gone on as originally scheduled at the Polo Grounds a month ago. He predicts a $50,000 gate. Still the general public hasn't been mobbing the box offices and only the boys who have a real interest in boxing have been talking much about the event.

PASTOR TO GAIN

It may bring Conn a fight with heavyweight champion Joe Louis. Even that is uncertain, for it's almost too late to put on a big outdoor fight show. By next spring, Max Baer may be back in the picture, or young Pat Comiskey. If Pastor wins, he may meet Louis indoors this winter.

Billy was a lopsided favorite before the Aug. 13 date, but the oddsmakers give him only a 5-to-8 edge now. They figure he'll have to depend mostly upon his speed and clever boxing, and Pastor, who went 21 rounds against Louis in two fights and was only knocked out once, has his share of both.

The weights indicate that they both are geared up for stepping, for Conn scaled 178 after his final hard workout yesterday and Pastor 183.

LOUIS PUNCH TAKES TOLL

Neither one packs a notably dangerous punch. Pastor is probably the harder hitter and if he can land often enough in the early rounds, he'll probably take a lot of the zip out of the later sessions, usually Billy's best.

But he still has to hit Conn to do any damage and Bob never has distinguished himself by his performances against fast-stepping rivals.

Then there's the question of Conn's reported improvement, and whether Pastor suffered any permanent damage from the beating Louis gave him at Detroit last September. Fight men point out that few, if any, fighters who have felt the full force of Joe's wallops ever have been the same afterwards.

Ex-Georgetown Back Joins Swede's All-Stars

Coach Swede Nelson now has a backfield squad of nine men to work against the Washington Redskins at Fenway Park next Tuesday evening, Sept. 10, when he sends his Eastern College All-Stars into action under lights.

Latest signees to grace the Stars' backfield roster are Ed Boell of N. Y. U. and Myron Darmohray of Georgetown, both of whom aided in defeating the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds last night. Boell is a 6 feet 1 inch, 200-pounder from Brooklyn, while Darmohray is two inches shorter, but 5 pounds heavier.

It is doubtful if the new pair will work together, inasmuch as both are blocking backs. The stubby Georgetown youth can lug the apple, however, and may team with Bill Tranavitch, ex-Rutgers blocker from Norwood.

Nelson is about to close the book on his backfield. Aside from Darmohray and Boell, he now has the talents of Vito Ananis who ran 28 yards against the Giants and Pete Cignetti of B. C., Ronnie Cahill of Holy Cross, Bombshell Bill Hutchinson of Dartmouth, Bill Tranavitch of Rutgers, Lloyd Ickes of Penn. State, and Walter Strosser of St. Vincent.

There is a possibility, however, that Roger Robinson of Concord will be used. Robinson has seen extensive action with the Blue Devils of Duke for the past three semesters. His specialty has been in backing up a line and kicking, as well as leading the offense.

Leahy Blasts Ragged Work Of B. C. Gridmen

With its initial scrimmage of the year behind, the Boston College grid squad today settles down to the real grueling work of preparing for the forthcoming season. That means that from here to a day or two before the opener on Sept. 21 with Center College, the Frank Leahy mentored organization will test contact work almost daily.

After watching his second team scrimmage the third team the youthful mentor, who proved such a success in his freshman year of coaching, termed the exhibition "a most ragged" one.

"Of course the first team didn't participate," said Leahy, "but even so I expected much more than those lads showed."

MONTGOMERY SHARES

Though the tentative first eleven hasn't as yet scrimmaged its turn will quite likely come this afternoon. The tentative first team, is at present composed of Henry Worronicz and Gene Goodreault, ends; Joe Manzo and John Yauckoes, tackles; Joe Zabilski and George Kerr, guards; Chet Gladchuk, center; Henry Toczylowski, quarterback; Charles O'Rourke, left halfback and Frank Davis, fullback. "Lightnin' Lou" Montgomery and "Flyin' Frank" Maznicki are presently sharing the right halfback duties.

In the squad's first scrimmage Leahy lined up a second team backfield composed of Justin McGowan, Mickey Connolly, Ted Williams and Mike "The Mighty" Holovak.

TED WILLIAMS SHINES

As the offensive unit this quartet tried its hand against the third stringers. Williams, a former member of the student body at Notre Dame, and Holovak, freshman flash of a year ago, did fairly well on a couple of occasions. Both were crashing their hardest and what they lacked in polish they made up in enthusiasm. Both lads, however, have lots of natural talent, which when it gets a little polishing, will come in mighty handy to Boston College in its quest for national grid prominence.

As the result of the unsatisfactory showing on the part of the teams participating in the initial scrimmage of the season, and because he feels that his first stringers are about ready for stiff work Leahy and his assistants, Ed McKeever, Johnny Druze and Joe McArdle, have mapped scrimmage plans which will encompass the next two weeks

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Cincinnati beat St. Louis, 3-1, in 10 innings and increased lead to five games over Cards as Bucky Walters won his 22nd victory.

THREE YEARS AGO—Henry Picard, home pro, won $5000 Hershey open golf tournament for second straight year.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Terry Moore, Cardinals' rookie centerfielder, equalled modern record by getting six hits in six times at bat against Boston.

By SAM BROGNA

A week and a half has been scratched off the calendar since Malden High gridmen reported for their first workout of the autumnal season and, with less than a week and a half remaining before the opening game, Coach Warren McGuirk is still faced with the dubious task of fielding his "Grade" eleven.

Usually, by this time, a coach knows just how he stands, but not so with the Golden Tornado mentor. At least, not this year; a year which he is faced with more than the problem of finding his first team. He had to start from mere scratch on the opening day of practice and up till this day is not much better off.

ONLY TWO VETERANS

When the candidates reported, only two veterans from last year's eleven were among the some odd 80—a lineman and a blocking back. This gave the soft-spoken coach his first headache, and since then has become quite attached to aspirints.

McGuirk, who doesn't seem at all any too optimistic about the future, is more than anxious to know just what is in store in his 1940 edition. He hasn't the slightest idea. In other years he would feel confident long before the opening game.

In addition to the two regulars—Capt. Dan Brandano, a tackle who played every minute of each game last year, and Joe Verrengia, adept blocking back, other returning lettermen who saw service at one time or another, were Hy Strasnick, Joe Raso and Don Ray, backs, and Wilbur King and Lou Chiarfella, linemen.

PLAY ALL-STAR ELEVEN

With the exception of Ray, Coach McGuirk has all good intentions of starting the other candidates in the opening game which will be played under the lamps on Friday, the 13th. This may be an unlucky number for a number of people, but Warren has high hopes that it will turn out to be a lucky one for him.

This game, which will be played at Pearl street stadium with an all-star aggregation offering the opposition, is sponsored by the Malden Lions Club. The entire proceeds of the contests will be added to a fund which purchases crutches, glasses, etc., for needy children.

Last year, it was played on the hottest Saturday afternoon of the football season, so it was decided to make it a nocturnal affair this semester.

In the quarterback spot, McGuirk named Joe Verrengia who is expected to do nothing else but call plays and block. Most of the ball lugging, kicking and passing will be done by the other three tentative backs. These are Joe Paso, Hy Strasnick and Jacob Frank.

This trio can do each one of the three assinments with Paso the ace. Joe was tossing the pigskin around as though it was a baseball during yesterday's drill and gave every indication that he can hit the bull's eye no matter if it were 50 yards away.

SUBS RUN LIGHT

Of the four, Frank is the heaviest with 178 pounds. Strasnick follows at 175 and then come Verrengia at 168 and Paso at 145. His other leading backfield candidates to date also are not of the heavyweight class which has been the case of other years.

Bill Lewinstein, a junior, who is showing promise with his pitching, tips the scale at 140; Dick Flanagan, 150; Leroy Wallace, 156; George Kerstead, 150, and Ray at 150.

Although his present starting line is far from what his past lines have been, McGuirk has to be content with it until the season gets underway. At the end he is contemplating on working Wilbur King, a 160-pounder who started against Medford when Lloyd Goldsmith was injured, and Ed Toomey, at 165 pounds.

Roster

Fucci, Will Doty, Don Harney, Paul Holland, Art Hennessy, Mel Gilman, Charles Kelly, Lapham, Will Lewinstein, George Moberger, F. Meehan, Art O'Brien, Picardi, Pozner, Don Ray, Joe Raso, H. Rosen, Ed Millet, Hy Strasnick, Roy Adams, Hobbs.

James Kerstead, H. Russell, M. Provatala, Joe Clarciello, Bob Shannon, J. Santaris, Art Sweeney, W. Toomey, F. Tortarella, P. Thompson, J. Verrengia, H. Waitt, R. Wood, Leroy Wallace, E. Macy, W. Moore, V. Medugno, Ed O'Connor, Wilcox and Wheeler.

Flying Delays Grid Work for N. U. Star Back

Phil Sheridan of Malden, destined to be a real handy man on the Northeastern University varsity football squad this fall, is really up in the air these days.

Phil reported to Coach Jimmy Dunn for the first time yesterday morning and asked permission to miss the afternoon practice sessions for the rest of the week. He wants to do little flying, he told Dunn.

DUNN'S FINGERS CROSSED

Upon further probing, Dunn found that Sheridan is taking the civil aeronautics authority course for the training of airplane pilots, and needs 11 more hours in the air. He will get them this week, while Jimmy crosses his fingers.

Sheridan will be a very important figure at Huntington Field this fall. At the moment he is slated for regular duty as a blocking back, although his five previous years of football have been spent as a lineman.

The 190-pound Sheridan started at tackle for Warren McGuirk at Malden High, but was shifted to center on the Northeastern freshmar team two years ago. Toward the end of the last season Dunn saw blocking back possibilities in Sheridan and shifted Phil to that post for the final game.

Although the Huskies have no experienced center returning this year, Dunn thinks Sheridan will be more valuable in the backfield. He has twin reasons in the persons of sopohmores Dick Grey and Gunnar Myrbeck, Quincy neighbors who are expected to fill the pivot post.

CASWELL MAY BE LOST

The backfield situation became somewhat acute yesterday when Dunn learned that Jack Caswell, track star from Ilion, N. Y., might not return for football. Caswell was used at wingback last year, and his great speed made him valuable on reverse plays. Caswell is working on a cooperative job and may not be available for grid work.

Dunn was very pleased with yesterday's workouts which included a blocking drill in regulation pads. If all goes well, he plans a practice game for Saturday morning.

TIGERS SCRAMBLE A. L. RACE

By Associated Press

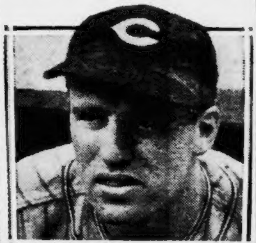
The Detroit Tigers, creaking with old age at nearly every joint, have turned the American League pennant scramble inside out again.

They crushed the Cleveland Indians, 7-2, yesterday with almost unbelievable ferocity while the Washington Senators pounced upon the New York Yankees, 6-5. Between the two upheavals the whole championship outlook was covered with confusion.

The Tigers had their backs to the wall, all right, and they didn't make any child's play of the job they had to do. They lined up just about the oldest, most experienced campaigners Manager Del Baker could get his hands on—Schoolboy Rowe, Charley Gehringer, Earl Averill, Dick Bartell, Bruce Campbell and the rest—and let out a roar that scared the Clevelanders right out of their cribs.

BARTELL UPSETS FELLER

They made 11 hits, including three home runs, off Bob Feller in seven innings and had the youngster so befuddled he literally didn't know which way to turn. Bartell stole second once while the Iowa speedster was going through his complicated windup, and Bob couldn't get settled down enough to throw to first when Campbell hit a bounder at him.



HAL TROSKY
Lost to Indians

After the game, Manager Oscar Vitt announced Feller would be given until Tuesday to recover, and that his ace had been "working too much." The Indians also lost slugging Hal Trosky indefinitely because of a leg injury he suffered by tripping over third base.

The victory lifted the Tigers back into second place, three games back of the Tribe.

The Yankees were victims of Lefty Joe Krakauskas, who hadn't won a game all season until yesterday. He was in frequent trouble, but tight in the pinches, and twice set down the champs without a score after they had loaded the bases.

The Boston Red Sox hovered close to pennant contenders by sweeping two extra-inning games from the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-5 and 5-4.

REDS WIN IN 13TH

In the National League, the champion Cincinnati Reds copped their 33d one-run victory with a 3-2, 12-inning verdict over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a night game.

The contest was a scoreless struggle between Bucky Walters and Max Butcher for 10 innings. Then, in the 11th, the Pirates made two runs, and the Reds duplicated. Finally, in the 12th, the always reliable Bill Werber singled home a run that meant the ball game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals maintained their margins behind the leaders by winning night encounters. Luke Hamlin pitched the Dodgers to a 3-0 shutout over the last-place Phillies.
